A 25-year-old Romulus man faces at least five years in prison on a conviction of kidnapping and slaying a 20-year-old Taylor man.

The Romulus Bicentennial Committee has scheduled a variety of activities and events to celebrate America's 200th birthday on July 4.

The Bicentennial parade will begin staging at City Hall at 11 a.m. and will step off at 1 p.m. It will proceed west on Goddard Road through town, and its final destination will be Five Points.

Many floats are scheduled to enter the parade in addition to old cars and several bands. Included in the parade will be the Romulus Bicentennial band organized by Dick Kruse. The Maple Airs All Girl Band from Chatham, Ontario, and the Sarah Paul School of Theatrical Arts also will supply a band and entertainment for the picnic to be held afterwards.

Trophies will be awarded in the following categories: Most patriotic float, most original float, most unusual float, oldest car in the parade, oldest resident in the parade, and oldest married couple in the parade.

Anyone with additional bands or floats interested in entering the parade, are asked to contact Marge McCrory at 941-2000, ext. 658; Donna Zavits at 728-6893; or Jack Trumble, chairman of the Romulus Bicentennial Committee, at 941-3513.

Immediately following the parade, at 2 p.m., there will be a picnic at the Elmer Johnson Park. Entertainment will include square dancing at the pavilion and entertainment sponsored by the Sarah Paul School of Theatrical Arts.

Games are planned for the children, and prizes will be awarded. Ribbons will be given in the following categories: Girl or boy with the longest hair, man with the longest beard and the best-looking mustache, and the child with the most freckles. Ribbons also will be awarded for best costume by a male or female, and for children under 10 and from 10 to 18.

The Bicentennial Committee requests that those planning to attend bring their own picnic lunches. Hot dogs, potato chips, pop and beer can be purchased at the picnic, however.

Martin's defense has been that the Taylor man had forced himself on Martin as he slept after hitch-hiking a ride, and that he strangled the Taylor man in an effort to escape.

Martin was arrested after he was found with several personal items belonging to Carleton.

Van Buren enters bidding for solar center

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise-Staff Writer

Van Buren Township has entered the bidding as a possible site for a solar energy research institute to be developed by the Federal government.

The township became a possible location for the massive institute, expected to employ thousands for up to 10 years to research the feasibility of utilizing solar energy, when Henry Ford II, chairman of the Board for the Ford Motor Company, announced the company was willing to donate a 200-acre tract of land to the U.S. government in an effort to bring the solar institute to Michigan.

"A considerable effort has been launched to attract this major research facility to the state," Ford said in a prepared release. "The institute represents the type of installation that is needed to better balance the state's economy."

The Ford site lies adjacent to the Willow Run Airport at Tyler and Beck Roads.

In addition to the Van Buren site, the Ford chairman said that the company was willing to donate a parcel of 882-acre Cherry Hill Tractor Farm in Washtenaw County, just west of Canton Township.

Any contribution of the land would be through the Michigan Energy Resource and Research Association, according to Ford. The Association is a non-profit organization formed to encourage the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) to locate its solar energy research institute in Michigan.

In addition to the Ford Motor Company, the County of Wayne is offering several tracts of land, including a site in Romulus on Van Born Road just west of Merriman Road and one in Westland.

Though the institute may not pay taxes as a government installation, landing the Solar Energy Research Institute would be a plum for any community because of an anticipated 1,000-person payroll which will come with the institute.

The Van Buren Township parcel being discussed by Ford does not match the 300-acre size the solar institute would like for its work, however, it lies next to a 100-acre parcel of land owned by the University of Michigan.

Van Buren officials believe their township would make the ideal site for the institute because of its proximity to Willow Run Airport and to research facilities now on airport property owned by the University of Michigan.

Romulus officials said the county land in their community also could make an attractive site because of its proximity to auxiliary industries which may be needed to bolster the solar energy research capacity, and its location approximately two-miles north of Metropolitan Airport.

State and county officials have indicated that Michigan would be an ideal site for the institute because its construction would help diversify the employment capacity of the state, which has suffered through a nearly three-year economic slump because of an automobile sales dip inspired by the 1973 energy crisis.

State officials engaged in economic development have been lobbying for non-automotive related businesses for the state to help balance the impact of an automotive slump on the state's economy in the future.

Pet show highlights mart

A variety of items ranging from arts and crafts to plants and food delicacies to free puppies were "on sale" at the Romulus Community Market Saturday at "Five Points".

"This was the third year of the community market and it was a marvelous experience with many people out selling, visiting, and buying," said Beverly McAnally, a Romulus councilwoman and organizer of the Community Market.

The summer market which features "open door sales" allows residents to display and sell their wares. The city of Romulus charges $2 for the booth, but all profits are retained by the merchant.

The special attraction of the day was a pet show where animals from goldfish to a goat paraded for the judges.

"Everyone went home with a prize, including a hamster who was given an award for the shortest legs," Mrs. McAnally said.

"In a small community," she said, "people should get together and know each other because this is what a small town is all about."

During the July 4 weekend, the market will not be held because of the "big festivities planned for the Bicentennial," Mrs. McAnally said.

The following Saturday (July 10), the market will continue and a special feature will be a doll show.

Bicentennial ribbons will be awarded. Judging begins at 12 noon in the Kennedy Park Pavilion.

Romulus accident takes life

A 27-year-old Livonia woman whose parents live in Romulus, perished in an automobile accident on Wayne Road.

Nancy Maurice Adkins, 27, of Puritan Street in Livonia, died June 18 when a car she was driving north on Wayne Road near Waycourse Road, collided with a car driven by Jennie Wilcox, 39, of 16820 Wayne Road, Romulus.

According to the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol traffic bureau, both Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Adkins were driving toward the center of Wayne Road, with Mrs. Wilcox' vehicle heading southbound, when their cars collided.

Mrs. Wilcox was taken to Wayne County General Hospital and later was transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

According to a sheriff's spokesman Mrs. Wilcox has not gained consciousness.

Sumpter parade marks Bicentennial

It's our birthday!

The Sumpter Township Bicentennial Committee has scheduled various activities and events, including a parade, for July 17, in celebration of America's 200th Birthday. Many local clubs and groups will be participating in the parade which will begin at 11 a.m., on the corner of Sumpter and Willis Road. The final destination will be the park at Sumpter and Wear. Leading the parade will be Sumpter Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi, who is the grand marshal, followed by

Congressman William Ford (15th District), honorary grand marshal. Other dignitaries participating are: Senator William Faust, Wayne County Commissioner Royce Smith, Rep. Edward Mahalak, Judge James B. Stone, Wayne County

Commissioner, Edward Harris, Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, Councilpersons Dorothy Rupp and Roland Arnold from Southgate, and Supervisor Elton Gollwitzer and the township board members from Van Buren Township.

Other parade highlights will be a collection of antique cars and also a team of oxen owned by Alfred Hayhoe, Diamondale. Trophies will be awarded in three categories: best float, best entry by children's group and best antique car entry.

After the parade participants will assemble at Sumpter and Wear, where a flag raising ceremony will begin the festivities. The Sumpter Township queen and her court will be presented and booths will be available for the purchase of food and a variety of other items. The drawing of the Bicentennial raffle will be held at 7 p.m. Prizes will be awarded, including the first prize of a micro-wave oven. The program will conclude with a fireworks demonstration.

Busch eyes Democratic nod for VB supervisor's contest

A Van Buren-area businessman has announced he is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Van Buren Township Supervisor's post on the Aug. 3 ballot.

Edgar C. "Ed" Busch, who operated Complex Tool and Die Company for more than 30 years, has announced he will seek election to the spot.

A veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, Busch is a graduate of the Henry Ford Trade School and Henry Ford Apprentice School.

He lists as his affiliations the Van Buren-Belleville Democratic Club, the 15th District Democratic Organization, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1519, the Simmonds-Williams American Legion Post 484, Belleville Lodge 934 of the Loyal Order of the Moose, the Huron Valley Conservation Association, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, the National Historical Society, the Smithsonian Institution Associates and the Presbyterian Church of the Master.

The supervisor hopeful is married and the father of three children. His wife, Evelyn, operates a restaurant in Van Buren Township.

Busch lists as his hobbies hunting, fishing, golfing, boating, gardening and cooking.

He said he has been a Democrat all his voting life and that he worked hard to elect Democrats to many political offices.

Mission joins panel to form adult group

St. Aloysius Catholic Church's Christian Service Commission along with Operation Home Mission of the Helping Hand Thrift Shop are teaming up to sponsor a new over 45 organization for Romulus residents.

The group is being organized to provide an opportunity for residents to get together with their neighbors for informal conversation; arts and crafts sessions, including leatherwork and woodcrafts for men; crafts and recreation and sewing, knitting and crocheting.

To enroll in the new organization, residents should register during the business day—8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.—by contacting Catherine Pritula, director, at 941-9473, or the Helping Hand Thrift Shop's Operation Home Mission at 941-5323. The program will begin tomorrow at St. Aloysius Catholic School.

Pool laws emphasized

With the unseasonably hot weather at hand, Romulus Building Director Edward D. Fall is reminding residents to be aware of city regulations when they install swimming pools.

"Too many accidents have occurred when a homeowner attempts to install their pools without the proper knowledge," Fall said. "I would want residents to contact this office for advice if they have some doubts on how to install pools."

Fall said that homeowners should be specially aware of city ordinances which prohibit them from installing pools underneath power lines.

In addition, he said homeowners should take some precaution on making access to the pool difficult when not in use to prevent backyard drownings.

Sumpter hall to close Friday

The Sumpter Township Hall will close July 2 to help community employees celebrate the nation's 200th year of independence.

However, Sumpter Township

Clerk Robert Demski's office will remain open July 3 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. to register voters on the last day they are eligible to sign up for the Aug. 3 primary election.

Injunction sought against Belleville fuel company

The U. S. Department of Labor's regional solicitor has asked the Federal District Court in Michigan to issue a permanent injunction against United Fuels, Inc., 10940 Willis Road, Belleville, to stop alleged violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The complaint alleged violations of overtime pay, minimum wage, and recordkeeping provisions of the Act. The court was asked to award back pay for distribution among the employees involved. No amounts were specified in the complaint.

Legal action followed an investigation of the business by the Labor Department's Wage-Hour Area Office, 14740 Plymouth Road, Detroit, under the supervision of Frank Modetz, area director.

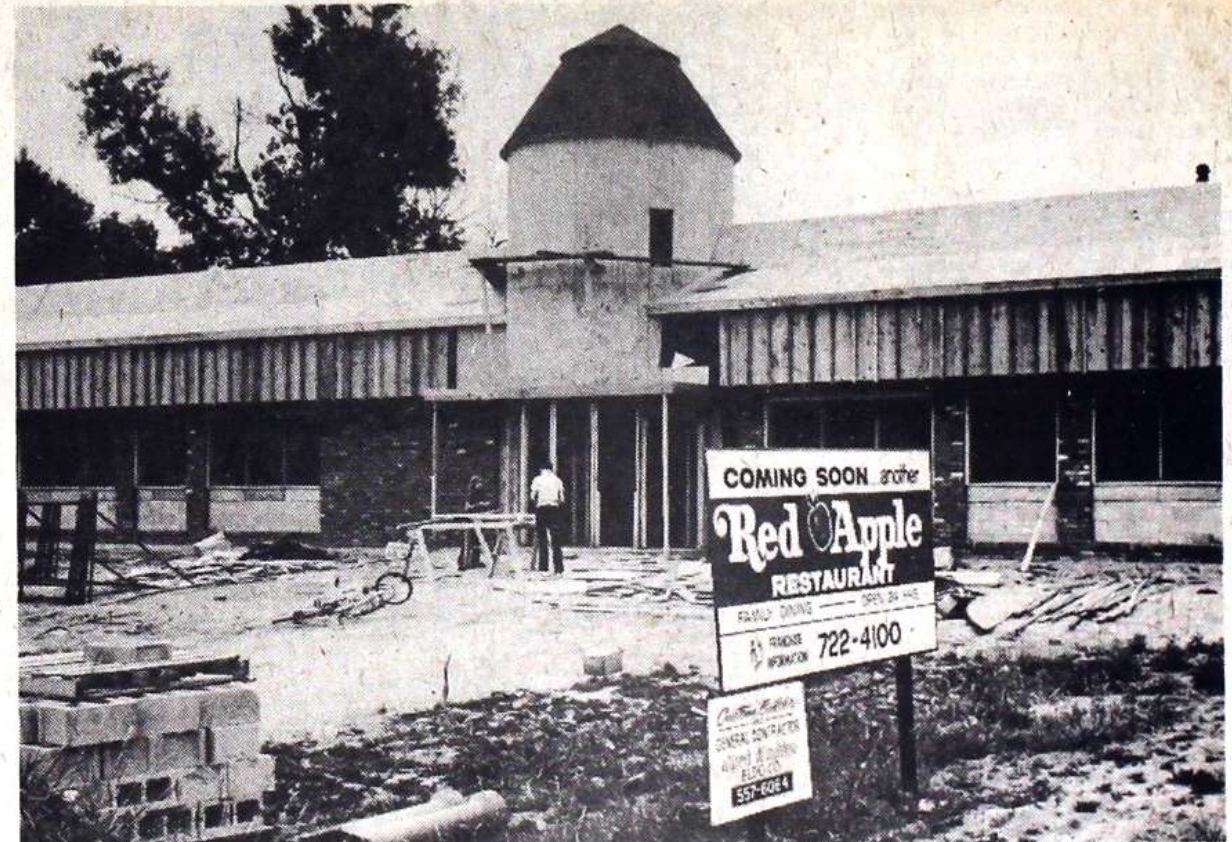

The Fair Labor Standards Act requires the payment of minimum wage rates; time and one-half pay for overtime hours unless a specific exemption applies; equal pay for equal work for both sexes; the keeping of adequate records of employee wages and hours; and restricts the employment of child labor.

We goofed

During the recent Van Buren Township Board of Education Elections, The Enterprise-Roman erroneously reported that Donna Adams, a candidate for the board, was a resident of Sumpter Township.

Mrs. Adams lives at 170 Second St. Belleville.

The Enterprise-Roman apologizes for any inconvenience the error may have caused.

Coming soon

Belleville-area residents are sharing in the type of "restaurant boom" hitting the Van Buren-Belleville area with the construction of the new Red Apple Restaurant on Main Street near the Belleville City Hall. The Red Apple's construction marks the third sit-down restaurant to locate in the city. At least five carry-out facilities also serve the community. The city looks like the intersection of the I-94 freeway and Belleville Road where four restaurants occupy space within a quarter mile circle of the intersection—ANP photo.

Project clouded with confusion

Commissioners reaffirm stand on new jail

Because of what some county commissioners termed a growing public misconception, several members of that legislative body recently called a special meeting to clarify the decision by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to construct a new jail facility in downtown Detroit.

According to Commissioner Samuel Turner, the clarification was necessary because "recent reports in the news media, a lawsuit and a petition to the board have caused consternation and confusion in the minds of a large segment of the public."

"We thought it was important to reassure the public that we have no intention to use revenue from the jail millage proposition for any reason other than a jail that is completely new, built from the ground up," he added.

Further confusion apparently has been caused by a 3-judge Circuit Court panel which has led many citizens to believe that parts of the new jail design schematics are illegal, Turner said.

Reportedly, the misunderstanding centers around the once-competitive Hudson warehouse renovation plan, which was rejected several times for the Board of Commissioners.

"The court has not declared the schematic plans, submitted by the board, as legally invalid," he added. He pointed out that "schematic drawings are not final plans, but the very opposite ..."

"All kind of figures and misstatements have been bandied about," he continued. "To date there has been no evidence to support these assertions."

"Not in any way is the Board of Commissioners backtracking on its commitment to build a new facility. The facts are that we have a contract with architects calling for a final plan to build a new jail from the ground up at a cost that will fall within the estimates given at the time the jail millage was approved by the voters."

Another county commissioner, Jarrette Simmons, said she considers the warehouse renovation plan a "dead issue" and interprets the millage approval as permission from the electorate for a new county jail.

Other commissioners at the special meeting also stood pat on their decision to support the new jail concept, tagging the warehouse issue a "white elephant."

Commissioner Edgar Harris at the meeting said he had worked hard in his district to persuade his constituents to approve the millage.

"And I told them it was for a new jail," he added. "Now is the time to get on with the job of building it."

Becomes advertising director

Mitchell moves to Record-Leader

Robert F. Mitchell, an advertising representative with Mellus Newspapers in Lincoln Park for the past six years, today was named advertising director for the Alma Daily Record-Leader.

The appointment was announced by Daily Record-Leader General Manager Zane Fox, who said Mitchell would be responsible for all display and classified advertising development of the newspaper.

Mitchell, 37, has had 14 years experience in newspaper management and advertising sales. He began his career with the News-Herald Newspapers at Wyandotte, spent two years as general manager of a Monroe County weekly newspaper which he founded in 1965, and then returned to the News-Herald.

He transferred to Mellus Newspapers in 1970. All of the newspapers are members of the Panax Newspapers Group, as is the Daily Record-Leader.

It is the second major change at the Daily Record-Leader within the past three weeks.

Martin Heim, who started his Panax newspaper career in Alma and later was general manager of both the Daily Record-Leader and the Daily Times-News at Mt. Pleasant, took over responsibility for both newspapers.

Heim has been group vice president for Panax in charge of its Southeast Michigan operations in the Detroit area for the past year, and assumed the additional responsibilities as part of a major change in Panax corporate assignments.

The 44 year old Heim also had served Panax as general manager at both the Macomb Daily in Mt. Clemens and the Dearborn Press before being named a vice president. He has maintained close contacts in the Alma-Mt. Pleasant area, hunting and fishing there annually.

Heim is a member of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association, Sigma Delta Chi, is a board member for Keep Michigan Beautiful and the Better Business Bureau of Detroit. He also is a member of the Adcraft Club of Detroit, Detroit Press Club, the International Newspaper Advertising Executives Association and the Michigan Press Association.

In a joint statement Heim and Fox said that Mitchell's appointment was a first step in "improving the newspaper we deliver to the people of this area."

"Whatever we have today is not good enough for tomorrow," they said, "and we intend to constantly keep seeking ways to provide better and better service to our advertisers and readers."

"We believe that Bob Mitchell, with his expertise and vigor, will make a significant contribution to that continuing effort."

Mitchell's promotion also was praised by Ernest LaForest and Ernest Nagy, respectively general manager and advertising director at Mellus.

Calling Mitchell a "valuable staff member" they predicted a successful tenure for him at Alma. Both pointed out his appointment followed a long standing Panax policy of promoting from within.

U.S. will be greater if spirit is willing

What do you say in an editorial about 200 years of American history?

Something like where have we been, where are we today and where do we go tomorrow?

What is appropriate to say?

It would be appropriate to acknowledge this country's struggle to be free and retain its freedom through big and small wars, right and wrong wars.

It would be appropriate to salute this country's people—its staunch, devoted and dedicated people, culled from a mixed bag of humanity from every corner of the world; a legion of governmental leaders, farmers, industrialists, laborers and inventors who infused this land with the knowhow and the wherewithall to enable it to develop quicker and faster than any other country known to man.

It would be appropriate to lavish praise on its majestic forests, its mountains, its lakes and rivers, its fertile fields and its mortar and steel cities.

It would be appropriate to single out its schools, colleges, and churches—the institutions that have given us knowledge, faith and a moral capacity to withstand degenerative forces.

America. Ah, how I love its sound. Its throbbing greatness. Its gentle goodness. Yet, despite its faults and imperfections it has been good to me. It has been good to all of us because it still comes closest to representing what every man, woman and child strives for—freedom and happiness.

None of us need ever be ashamed of its deportment over the years. Maybe it has been overzealous at times, but that is its only crime.

I love this country, not because I wave a flag or make a patriotic speech, but because I belong.

There is this feeling that tells me that now is the time for a reassessment of this nation's position and calls for a positive challenge to the American citizenry to do something that will make this country even greater through the next 200 years.

In this nation there is power at a certain level to put us on course. It is not in new laws or new agencies. It has to be something that begins in the heart and in the spirit of the American people.

$490,000 school grant is a waste of money

There is a lot of excitement at the Wayne-Westland Board of Education offices these days over the $490,000 award granted the district by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for an Indian education and cultural awareness program.

While top school officials are rejoicing over the receipt of this award, they should realize that the grant is viewed by many as simply another horrible example of our federal tax dollars being squandered.

That the federal government is going to spend nearly a half-million dollars on Indian education in the Wayne-Westland School District would be laughable if it were not our own money that is being wasted in such a non-sensical fashion.

We do not doubt that full-blooded Indian children living on a reservation in Michigan's Upper Peninsula or out in the southwestern part of the country may have problems that need special attention.

But to spend that kind of money in this area is not only a terrible waste of federal tax money but also is diverting funds from those geographical areas where it is most needed.

Top Wayne-Westland school administrators wonder why taxpayers in the district are rebelling and questioning the way school money is being spent. The reason is very simple. Great effort is being made to secure all kinds of federal funds for the district, regardless of how ambiguous or remote the need may be, while the basic educational needs of all children in the district sometimes appear to be of secondary importance.

In this school district, the primary need of children of Indian ancestry is the same as the children of all ethnic ancestry and background—a good, sound, basic education.

The half-million dollars of our federal tax money could be better spent in other parts of the country where it could really aid the American Indian, and not here in the Wayne-Westland district where all we'll get is another high-paid bureaucratic position.

Gremlin attacks editorial

By BOB COCHRANE
Editor of The Enterprise-Roman

I remember long ago when I first started in the newspaper business there was this old timer at the Grand Rapids Herald who talked about all those little gremlins that did such dastardly things to the newspaper.

Like taking a perfectly spelled word and diabolically scrambling it up so it appeared as a misspelled word in the paper the next day. Or worse, frolicking in a bank of type and doing such hideous things as placing a little x next to a y and a t next to the y and so forth. You've seen the result: "Little Johnny Jones yesterday underwent a serious operation to have his xytsuti removed."

Well, last week The Associated Newspapers apparently was visited by one of those rotten gremlins. It was horrible. He was the worst kind. He came in, did his damage and left and nobody even knew he was here.

What he did to my editorial I'll never live down. You see, it was a piece on why everyone's vote really does count, as witness the close election in the Plymouth School District where a tax increase proposal was defeated by a single vote. Now, everybody knew that.

Unfortunately in Romulus and Belleville the editorial said it was the Van Buren School District. Of course, that wasn't true, because Van Buren voters turned down a tax hike by a 3 to 2 margin.

A lot of people got upset, and I don't blame them. They were concerned that the next time the district goes after a tax increase many of the voters, remembering that "one vote loss," will make a point of going to the polls and voting against the hike. I don't think that logic is too swift, but this column wasn't written to argue the merits of that assumption.

At any rate, by the time yours truly caught the grievous boo-boo it was too late to correct the damage. That little gremlin had done his worst and already had skedaddled.

But I'll say one thing. All of us here are going to be particularly alert should he or his friends decide to pay us another visit. They are not welcome. Besides they don't even own a union card.

The big muscular dystrophy skate-a-thon that was held in Wyandotte is over and the results are impressive. Skaters, and they included mayors, radio personalities and newspaper editors, drummed up pledges totaling $16,738.43. Actually, that figure could swell when all the pledge cards are turned in.

Romulus Mayor James Stewart skated seven hours—longer than any other mayor—and mustered pledges totaling $374.50. The winning mayor was Allen Park's Frank Lada who collected $1,775. As for the contest? Between the editors of the four Panax Newspapers, only Don Davenport, editor of the News-Herald Newspapers garnered any pledges. The rest of us—yours truly, Jim O'Toole, editor of the Mellus Newspapers, and Gary Farrugia, editor of the Dearborn Press—were shut out.

Hall urges 1976 tax revolt

By HARRY HALL
Past President
Michigan State
Chamber of Commerce

Resistance to taxes that had become too onerous was one cause of the American Revolution. Now, 200 years later, taxpayers have an unique opportunity to revolt against the tyranny of taxes in Michigan.

In the spirit of 1976, it is not necessary to resort to armed insurrection. Nothing more deadly than the pen is needed. In this instance, nothing is more deadly than the pen when used to sign a petition that would place on the ballot a proposal to limit tax extractions from an over-taxed public.

This petition calls for a constitutional limit on State taxes, establishes criteria to determine the limit, and places restrictions on local governmental units to impose new taxes or raise existing taxes without the approval of the local electorate.

If long-suffering taxpayers are to have a chance to vote on this public-interest issue in November, some immediate action must be taken by each concerned individual. A total of 266,000 signatures must be collected before July 5. More than 50 State Legislators are sponsors of this petition drive.

This proposal would place a limit of 8.3 percent of the State's total personal income for the previous fiscal year, or the previous five years, whichever is greater. Personal income means the total income received by persons in Michigan from all sources as defined by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Federal funding and revenue for general obligation bonds are exempted.

Also, the amendment would mandate that the Legislature provide state funds for any services or programs forced on local units of government by State law. Further, it would prohibit local government units from levying any new taxes or increasing the rate or base of existing taxes without the approval of a majority of qualified voters.

These are the primary provisions of the amendment. It would give the individual taxpayer some needed controls on State spending. It should be obvious that some such restraints are overdue. Look at a few financial facts.

In spite of a depressed economy, the State of Michigan initiated 156 new programs and services during the five-year period between fiscal 1970 through 1974. No tendency was exhibited in any of these cost-producing programs to relate sharply increased costs to economic conditions, personal income, or total long-range impact on the state budget. No obsolete programs were eliminated. No cost-saving devices were enacted to offset the new expenditures.

For the twelve-year budget period from 1964-65 to 1975-76, general fund-general purpose expenditures leaped by 367 percent, with an actual year-by-year increase varying from 7.5 percent to 32.2 percent. A review of these appropriations shows little concern for the capacity of the economy to bear these added continuing expenses without increasing the tax burden.

As a matter of common knowledge, the state is spending at a rate far in excess of actual income at the moment and has been for the past two years. To avoid sharp tax increases until after this year's election, the Governor and the Legislature conjoined to foster fund juggling, date shifting, and bookkeeping trickery to meet constitutional requirements of a balanced budget. Technically, these requirements have been met, but only by postponing inevitable tax increases.

Most of the legalized gimmickry has been exhausted. There are a few members of the Legislature who will deny the necessity of steep tax increases next year. Bobby Crim, Speaker of the House, and a supporter of the slick financial maneuvering of the budgetary process has said, "but all these measures are nothing more than one time only postponements of genuine confrontations with the ultimate problems. No budgetary manipulations can shield this State forever."

It seems to me only a matter of common sense for the citizens of this state to take matters in their own hands by drawing a line on taxation that no Legislator or agencyocrat spendthrift can cross.

This amendment would make taxation and spending consistent with the state of the economy. It would require establishment of priorities of essential services. It would control growth of rampant bureaucracy at a pace related to economic growth. It would help local government by requiring the state to provide funds for state-mandated spending. It would impose restraints on state government that has refused to exercise self-restraint.

Finally, getting this issue on the ballot would have a psychological effect on all state officials. It would say in the most impressive terms that voters are sick and tired of the sailor-on-leave spending and give fair warning that if these incumbent politicians expect to stay in office, they had better show better fiscal sense. Of course, nothing of the sort happens unless sufficient signatures are secured before July 5.

Woman likes being a woman; rips ERA

To the editor:

I'm writing to say that I'm against the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) movement. I'm writing to our state's legislators to ask for a "no" vote.

We all know that men and women don't have equal physical strength. We women can't do jobs that require strength beyond our limitations, such as some industrial and factory jobs. We women should admit our limitations! I, for one, need help to move a heavy piece of furniture. It would be foolish for me to attempt something I know I am not physically capable of.

Being a wife and mother is an honored position, it is also one of choice. No woman has to get married or become a mother! Being a wife and mother is an important and rewarding job in itself. Sure, many of us have to work to help out, but our role as wife and mother must come first. If done properly, one can be a wife, mother, homemaker, and working woman and it can work out beautifully.

Too many women resent being "just a housewife." There is no such thing! Some look down on housewives and don't give credit where it's due. As with any job, being a wife, mother and homemaker takes the right attitude.

A man needs a pleasant, clean, comfortable place to come home to, and we can make our homes that place, gals! Children need mom at home when they are small, but if your children are in school all day, that time is free for you to work. Should you have to work, work hours that coincide with their school hours and hubby's hours.

Our most important job as women is that of wife and mother. If we choose to marry and have children, we must realize this.

I, for one, hold a job working four days a week. I get up at 5 a.m., get my husband off to work. After he leaves, I do dishes, wash and fold clothes, pack lunches, dust, pick up around the house, then get my children up. I get their breakfast, send them off to school at 9 a.m., then I get ready for work. I get off at 3 p.m. This gets me home 45 minutes before my children and husband. I change clothes, start dinner, and wait for my family to come home. We have dinner, I do dishes, then we are free to watch TV, play games, etc. until bedtime, which is usually 9-10 p.m. Any big jobs I have to do wait until my days off. Sure, it's hectic, but the needs of my family come first. My home is not immaculate - but who cares?! If one must exert a little extra effort, that's your choice as a woman, wife, mother, homemaker, and working woman.

The ERA amendment would change our lives in so many undesirable ways, gals! You had better look at the cons as well as the pros!

1. We would have no choice, we'd be eligible for draft and have to fight on the battlefield. I for one, could not kill someone, could you?

2. There would be no sex segregation in prisons, reform schools, or public rest rooms. I do not want to use the same restrooms as men in public places. Think of the lack of privacy.

3. ERA would legalize homosexual and lesbian marriages. Do we want that?

4. Husbands will not be required by law to support wives, and there would be no child-support payments, either.

5. ERA scoffs at the institution of marriage and the importance of the home. My marriage and home are very important to me. How about you?

6. Women will have to work to gain economic independence.

7. The ERA could destroy more rights than it creates. Once ratified, the ERA would become "The law of the land", and courts would enforce it.

So come on women, wives, and mothers and men (husbands and fathers) write to your state legislators, speak up, vote ERA down! Think about it ladies, do we want all that ERA has to offer, the cons as well as the pros? I sure don't, and many women I know don't. I think women are misled, for they do not know all of what ERA is about or what it would do if it is passed. Let's defeat the ERA before it's too late!

State making pitch for solar institute

By TOM OCHILTREE
Panax Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Michigan leaders in various fields, operating as one team, are convinced the state has a strong chance of being picked as the site of a planned Solar Energy Research Institute.

Such an installation could be the long range answer to America's and Michigan's energy problems. Its location in Michigan would be an obvious plus for the entire state.

While the United States wants to free itself from dependence on foreign oil, two alternative sources of energy—nuclear power and gasification of coal—have produced loud complaints from environmentalists.

Energy produced from trapping the sun's rays does not cause such objections. The technical problems involved also appear nearer final solution. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology announced a few days ago that it had made a breakthrough in concentrating the rays of sunlight and storing the energy thus obtained.

To secure the Solar Energy Research Institute a large number of the state's leaders have come together in a unique united front.

Included are Republican and Democratic members of the state's Congressional delegation, Gov. William G. Milliken's administration, local officials, leaders of industry and labor unions and distinguished figures in the academic world.

This is their big selling point: Michigan possesses an unusually high level of industrial development plus scientifically advanced academic institutions.

Thus the state possesses a large pool of engineering and scientific talent to man a federally funded, privately operated solar program. The automobile industry in particular trains engineers in the problems of reducing component costs by means of mass production techniques—and this approach will be necessary if the sun's heat is to be trapped as one of the major sources of the nation's energy.

At Milliken's urging the Michigan Legislature has earmarked $220,000 to fund the campaign to win the research facility. The Michigan Energy Research and Resources Administration headed by John Mogk is coordinating the Michigan bid.

Preliminary site selection has been placed in the hands of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA). The list of site applications filed with that federal agency now has grown to nearly 100.

Officials at ERDA plan to cut the list in September to a final six or eight. Making that smaller grouping represents the first goal for the Michigan people seeking the site. In a statement inserted in the Congressional Record, Rep. John D. Dingell, (D-Mich.), stressed that Michigan would be an ideal site for the solar project.

Furthermore, he pointed out that Michigan, despite its obvious advantages, has not done well heretofore in receiving federal research programs. Michigan gets back only 1.5 cents in federal research and development projects of various types for every federal tax dollar residents of the state send to Washington. Of all the states only Nebraska comes off worse than Michigan in this regard.

As head of the energy subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee, Dingell is deeply involved examining the various proposals for developing alternate sources of power. This makes him a leading figure in the Michigan bid for the solar institute, along with the state's two senators—Philip A. Hart, a Democrat, and Robert B. Griffin, a Republican.

ERDA comes under the jurisdiction of the House Committee on Science and Technology. Michigan fortunately has two members of that panel—Marvin L. Esch, a Republican, and James J. Blanchard, a Democrat.

Negotiations now are in progress to secure a tract of some 300 acres near Ann Arbor, in Esch's district, to be used for the solar program in the event Michigan is picked.

As part of the state's united front, members of the Congressional delegation have agreed not to squabble among themselves about the location so long as Michigan gets the project.

The Michigan bid is one of the few made in the name of the entire state. Most of the others were submitted by private groups or smaller governmental units.

After ERDA cuts the list down to six or eight, it is anticipated the White House will make the final selection probably after the November election.

Informed sources said it does not necessarily follow that because President Ford is from Michigan he will pick a Michigan site unless the case for the state clearly reveals the advantages of such a choice. All this assumes, of course, that Ford will win election to a full term.

"As a rule any president tends to be careful not to give the impression that he is building up his home state at the expense of the others," one source explained. "Actually, we expect President Ford to lean over backward to be fair in this case."

Even so, this informant and others working for Michigan believe the state has the most to offer.

Jack Anderson—character assassin

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

Washington — "Public persons' private lives," wrote Washington Post Editor Ben Bradlee, "tend to be their own business unless their personal conduct is alleged to violate the law or interfere with the performance of the public job."

Bradlee made this statement in defense of the Post killing a syndicated column by Jack Anderson alleging that conservative independent U.S. Senator Harry F. Byrd Jr., from Virginia, had seduced a woman from his state who came to him for help. Anderson did not identify the woman nor provide substantiation for his charge. The Anderson column was published throughout the nation on the heels of the Capitol Hill sex scandals involving major and powerful Democrats.

Anderson admitted that Elizabeth Ray, who broke the scandal and named Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio, had gone to Anderson two years ago with her charges but he refused to print the story! Yet, when the Washington Post published the Ray-Hays story, setting off the current Capitol Hill sex exposes, Anderson rushed into print a story on Byrd!

This contradiction crudely illustrates the partisan nature of Jack Anderson, who has insisted on two occasions when facing this columnist in television debates that he favors neither Democrats nor Republicans and is strictly a reporter. This indictment of Anderson as a partisan hatchetman and character assassin for Democrats is substantiated by the fact his "source" for the Byrd charge of seduction, Mrs. Marianne Hudson of Fairfax County, Virginia, had gone to Anderson's associate with the tale over a year ago! Furthermore, the facts now clearly indicate that Elizabeth Ray was a far more credible source than was Mrs. Hudson. The Washington Post found, for example, that Mrs. Hudson had a history of making unsubstantiated allegations to police in Fairfax County and even to Washington Post reporters. Anderson conceded, somewhat lamely, that the Post had shown more "initiative" in checking out the Ray story; but he did not admit he was equally in error about the credibility of Mrs. Hudson.

It is now being contended that Anderson used the Byrd story because of the publicity of sex scandals involving Democrat Congressmen. The facts and the long history of Jack Anderson, as an associate of the late Drew Pearson, lead us to another and more plausible interpretation. Anderson deliberately suppressed the information provided to him by Mrs. Ray and only published the Byrd story to take the spotlight off the Democrats.

The shabbiness of Anderson's attempts to assassinate the character of Byrd for partisan political motives was compounded when the Washington Star suggested in an editorial that the Washington Post killed the Anderson column on Byrd as a way of thanking the Virginia Senator for printing copies of the Post on the presses of the Winchester Star last year when the Post printing plants were sabotaged by strikers. Byrd owns the Star. "That suggestion," Bradlee wrote, calling the allegation a cheap shot, "is ridiculous." (Washington) Star Editor Jim Bellows apologized for it on June 18 — by telephone, though not in the paper.

The entire affair illustrates what has been happening here with members of the media, both broadcast and print, when it comes to publishing and airing wrong-doing by Democrats. During the Watergate scandal no detail was spared to blacken the reputation of the Nixon administration and the Republicans. But now, most newspapers and TV networks, in contrast, have sought to soften the sex scandal involving a growing number of Democrats.

The Washington Post, which broke the Watergate story in the first place, has demonstrated by questioning the Anderson assassination attempt of Byrd, that it plays no partisan favorites and is guided by facts. The paper deserves full praise for its independence and toughminded attitude toward the Anderson affair. And to Mr. Anderson, this columnist will repeat in print what we said to his face: "Jack, you are giving the First Amendment and our profession a bad name!"

Ostomy Club holds meets in Ann Arbor

The Ann Arbor Area Ostomy Association is an organization servicing all of Washtenaw County and is comprised of people having had ostomy surgery. It is estimated that over 2500 persons in the county alone have undergone such surgery as a colostomy, an ileostomy or a urostomy.

The aim of the association is to help every ostomate person return to normal living through mutual aid and moral support. It promotes the education of proper ostomy care, the exchange of ideas and assistance in improving equipment and supplies.

The local chapter has 12 trained volunteer visitors (who have had ostomy surgery) who visit the pre-operative and post-operative patient at the doctor's request. Visits are made possible by calling Mrs. Joyce Fleszar at 439-7715.

Meetings of the group are held on the third Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Guild, 502 W. Huron St., Ann Arbor.

Faith was symbolized by the yellow coreopsis; courage by a red geranium; patience by lavender and clover; service by the violet and pansies, and the evergreen for perennial growth. The message of the centerpiece was that kindness and thoughtfulness must grow in the garden of love.

The lucky recipient of the bouquet was the retiring president, Mrs. J.E. Horste.

The group will next meet on the second Tuesday in September.

Some 30 years had passed since two sisters, Doris Januszyk of Belleville and Gladys Herbert of London, England, had seen each other; Doris having left her native Surrey to be married in the United States to Alex Januszyk, a member of the U.S. Air Force.

Mrs. Herbert was the houseguest of her sister and brother-in-law for a month and prior to her departure for the British Isles, the Januszyks arranged an old-fashioned American-style family reunion in her honor.

The potluck affair June 13 included lots of singing — some to the accompaniment of Jenny Sliwa on the accordion — and some solos performed by Gary Bazydio of Riverview who also played the guitar.

Getting acquainted with their English guest during the festivities were the Frank Januszyk family of Tipton; Mrs. Josepha Dapsi of Lewiston; the John Bazydio family and Mrs. Frank Motowski of Riverview and the Charles Piskorskis of Ypsilanti.

Area residents attending were the John Januszyks, the Stanley Januszyk family, the senior Stanley Sliwa, the junior Stan Sliwa family, the Jim Shephard family, the Les Powells, the Stanley Pietrzaks, the Jerry Verniers and the junior Les Powell family.

During her stay in Michigan, Mrs. Herbert traveled with her hosts to the Upper Peninsula where she visited Copper Harbor and the Soo Locks and then spent a week at Alex and Doris' cabin in Lewiston.

A shopping trip, of course, is always on the agenda for two women and Doris chose Briarwood as an example of U.S. malls. Mrs. Herbert said that although they do have shopping centers in London, none of them are as clean or as beautifully designed as the one she visited here.

40-YEAR SURPRISE

A surprise dinner-dance marking the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Merecki of Belleville was held June 6 at Roma Hall of Garden City.

The couple's three daughters, Marylin, who lives at home; Kathleen and her husband, Robert Miller of Belleville, and Nancy and her husband, Larry Moore of Ypsilanti, played host at the gala event.

Some 85 relatives and friends congratulated the happy couple including former Belleville residents, Ray and Rose Gratoski, who came from Lighthouse Pointe, Fla. to help celebrate.

Mrs. Merecki was Eleanor T. Wozniak when she exchanged nuptial vows with her husband on June 20, 1936 in St. Albertus Catholic Church in Detroit. The couple made their home in Detroit until 1942 when they moved to Martinsville Road. Nine years later they made another move to their present address on E. Huron River Drive.

Mr. Merecki is retired from the Ford Motor Company. Both he and his wife are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

BROTHERS SHARE HONORS

Stelbert and Albert Russell, members of Belleville High's class of 1976, received congratulations June 19 during an open house hosted by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Russell of Hannan Road.

The 110 guests attending included the boys' aunts, Leona Kovachich who flew in from Norwich, Conn. with her daughter, Denise and son, Virgil Jr.; Marie Barck of Newaygo and May Titus of Kalkaska. Others at the 2 p.m. celebration were from Westland, Garden City and the Belleville area.

The buffet dinner served out of doors included two decorated cakes made by Mrs. Russell's cousin, Clara Hall of Westland.

Albert plans to enter Washtenaw Community College to study law enforcement in the fall. Stelbert is employed at General Motors of Livonia.

The following day, June 20, Mrs. Russell and her 11 brothers and sisters entertained at a reception in honor of the 46th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mrs. and Mrs. August Rohraff of Westland.

The party, held at Sts. Simon and Jude church hall in Westland, brought the family together for the first time in 15 years. Some 200 relatives and friends attended.

Hosting the party along with Doris Russell were Sam Rohraff and Dorothy Dean of Westland; Leona Kovachich of Norwich, Conn.; May Titus of Kalkaska; Marie Barck of Newaygo; Gladys Vandercook of Garden City; and David, Norman, Eddie, Douglas and Raymond Rohraff of Westland.

Park dedication to be held July 4

The public is invited to join Belleville city officials, members of the Bicentennial Committee and guests at the new park on High Street at 1 p.m. on July 4 for the official dedication.

The Rev. Joy Arthur of the First United Methodist Church will give the invocation. Don Carlson, park project chairman; Jon Hale, Bicentennial committee chairman, and Mayor Justin Emerson will address the audience.

The Bethany Choir will sing a selection from the musical "I Love America" entitled "Red, White and Blue."

The city council, upon recommendation of the Bicentennial Committee, has named the project "Horizon Park."

Lodge enrolls 11

Belleville Lodge No. 934 of the Royal Order of Moose held an enrollment of new members June 19 at the Moose Home. The 11 newcomers included Charles Frey, Gordon Gagneau, Earl Giraud Sr., Gerald Glass, Donald Gregg, Myron Marsh, Thomas Maynard, Lee Schwartz, Walter Sherer, Charles Spain and Albert W. Spalding. Walter Sherer was class representative.

A dinner was served by the Women of the Moose from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and following the enrollment, dancing to the music of Ray Marvin and the Nashville Kats was enjoyed.

Brother Alvin McGriff was reported to be hospitalized in Niles with Brother Marvin Boprie a patient at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. Sympathy was extended to the family of Brother John Barber who died June 20.

Membership meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Moose Home on E. Huron River Drive, Belleville.

Price-Wilken wed June 14

Russel E. Price of Liberty Street, Belleville, and Dorothy Wilken of Onsted, Mich. were united in marriage June 14 at the cottage of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Smith at Lake City.

The Rev. Ward Pierce of the United Methodist Church of Lake City presided.

The new Mrs. Price, a retired teacher, and her husband both graduated from Wayne High School with the class of 1925. They left June 19 for a trip through the Eastern states and Canada.

Camp Fire unit holds banquet

At the recent annual meeting of the Camp Fire Girls Detroit Area Council, several volunteers working with the organization were honored.

Receiving a national award at the morning meeting, held June 7, was Westland businessman James North, who was chosen to collect the Ernest Thompson Seton Award for his outstanding service to the Camp Fire Girls council.

North has served on the council for five years and during that time has been in charge of the day camp budget. Treasurer of the Oakland County District and of the new fundraising committee for the girl's organization, he will continue as a member of the council.

Also honored for his outstanding support of the Camp Fire Girls programs during 1975-76 was Associated Newspapers Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

The organization presented him with a certificate, marking his photographs published in The Wayne and Westland Eagles, and The Romulus Roman, publicizing camp fire events.

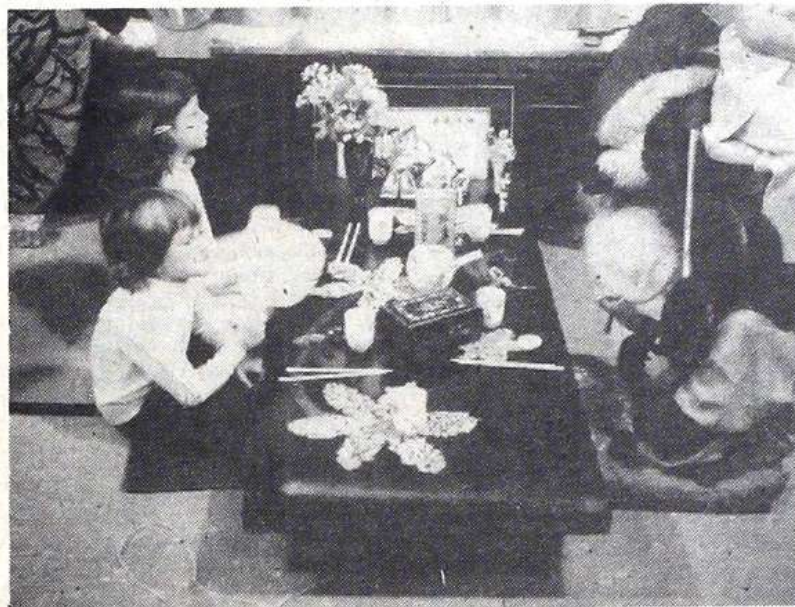

Another honoree at the meeting was Mrs. William Campbell who received a certificate of appreciation for her work as Downriver District chairman. Mrs. Campbell is a newly elected board member of the Detroit Area Council.

Romulus 4 on Dean's List

Among those students named to the Dean's List at Madonna College in Livonia for high academic achievement during the winter term were three students from Romulus. Earning first honors for a grade point average of 3.5 or better (4.0

being perfect) were Debra M. Dick, Patricia M. Glaab and Robert C. Crain.

Achieving a grade point average between 3.25 and 3.49 was Robert F. McGraw, also of Romulus.

In Korean style

The recent "Ethnic Festival" at Rawsonville Elementary School included display booths featuring articles and information on Germany, France, Mexico, Africa, Australia, North American Indians, Appalachia, South America and Asia.

A stage show was scheduled every half hour during which students represented various ethnic groups in their program. Taking part in the segment on Korea were Jenny Foster, Kellie Cammet and Michelle Leier.

In San Diego

Among the more than 18,000 people attending the 61st Annual Convention of Kiwanis International, in San Diego, Calif. were William J. Matthews of Lake Pointe Boulevard and James Richendollar of Harris Road, Belleville.

The two men are president and president-elect, respectively, of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

While attending the June 20-23 convention, delegates saw the election of new Kiwanis International officers and trustees, the passing of resolutions upon which the organization's 1976-77 community service programs will be built and the amending of the Kiwanis International constitution. with Harold Rediske
UHT Memorial Funeral Home
"Where there's a will..."

If you own a car, a house or a savings account, you should have a will. Your estate, large or small, will have to be administered by someone. Without a will, the state, through the courts, will appoint an administrator. Your estate is distributed by the laws of the state, at his discretion and direction. This could possibly be against your own personal wishes and might or might not be in the best interests of your wife and family.

With a will, however, you appoint your own administrator and may designate the waiving of bond he may be obliged by law to post. You direct the distribution of your estate.

With a will, you save your estate considerable time and money. You are assured that your estate will not be handled by strangers, but by people you know and trust.

How do you make a will? First, see your lawyer. He has the forms, knows the requirements of the state, and probably enough of your personal affairs to be of great help in preparing for future management control of the estate.

You may change your will, as you wish and whenever circumstances require it. You may also include provision for funeral arrangements as part of the will, if you so desire. We can provide counselling, without obligation, on this aspect of your will, but only this. This is one of a series of brief articles we hope will be helpful to you. You may ask questions privately or publicly through this newspaper column.

With summertime upon us and the livin' (supposedly) easy, there should be many moments during these longer daylight savings time days when a good book can take up the slack and carry you off on a mini-vacation (the mind over matter type, of course.)

Admittedly, you won't find yourself getting to that reading on a nice, sunny evening when the clock can take you right up to 10 p.m. without your realizing it. But come those intermittent gloomy, rainy hours or while you're playing the leisure role at the cottage, be prepared with a good selection of reading matter from your local library.

Quotes worth quoting...

"There may be such a thing as the friendship of prosperity; but surely it cannot be compared with the friendship of adversity. Men, stooping, come close together."

David Grayson said it

Ceremony held at bride's home

Gloria Tomes and Evelyn Tomes, the bride wore a long blue lace gown accented with blue flowers and styled with a V neckline and cape sleeves for the ceremony. A corsage of carnations was pinned at the shoulder.

Frederick Rawlings Jr., both of Westland, repeated their wedding vows in a double ring rite held recently at the bride's apartment. The daughter of

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK RAWLINGS JR.

Evelyn Tomes of Belleville, the bride wore a long blue lace gown accented with blue flowers and styled with a V neckline and cape sleeves for the ceremony. A corsage of carnations was pinned at the shoulder.

Her sister, Mary Quillette of Belleville, who was chosen to be honor attendant, wore a blue gown imprinted with blue flowers for the occasion.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Rawlings Sr. of Garden City, asked Bill Monczunski of Livonia to be best man. Some 20 guests attended the evening nuptials and reception given by the newlyweds which followed.

Mrs. Tomes selected a navy blue dress for her daughter's wedding while the bridegroom's mother donned a long multi-colored frock.

The bridegroom is an employee of the Thunderline Corp. of Wayne.

And DO choose a variety—some fiction, some how-to's, a biography or two, a stirring mystery, current events (which sometimes SEEM like fiction) or whatever your taste in literature might savor.

Having read the condensed version of "RIVER RISING" by Jessica North in a monthly magazine, I can only say that in its entirety, it probably makes much better reading than in its reduced form. But if you lean to the always beautiful, suddenly parentless young woman seeking her rightful inheritance in another country and who (naturally) falls in love with "the" older man, then this romanticized attempt at mystery is for you. Very easy reading.

A long-time Helen MacInnes advocate, I found her latest, "AGENT IN PLACE," lacking her usual flair for in-depth intrigue. The dealings with American and Soviet undercover agents are all a bit too pat; the "good guys" winning out all too easily over the "baddies." A bit of fresh air, though, in the fact there was no torrid love affair being conducted during the international interplay of secret and double agents. It never seems quite plausible that those men always find themselves involved with the bedroom at the same time they're transmitting secret codes to their compatriots. Chalk one up there for Miss MacInnes!

Helen Chase's "FLOWER ARRANGING" is a seasonal treat for those interested in learning the practical method of arranging both fresh garden blooms and dried flowers.

With vacation days circled on your calendars, what could be more timely than Betty Ross' (Betty, not Betsy) "HOW TO BEAT THE HIGH COST OF TRAVEL"? In a 255-page illustrated book, she discusses travel costs, voyages, guide books, money management, etc.

While on the holiday trail, how about "BACKPACKING, TENTING AND TRAILERING" by S. Duncan who gives his opinions and ideas in an illustrated Rand McNally publication of 192-page length.

Haven't gotten to it as yet but it's been up there among the best sellers for many a listing. "IN THE BEGINNING" by Chaim Potok tells of the development of David Lurie from a sickly child in the 1920's into a bright Talmudic scholar.

"THE FOREVER WAR" is Joe Haldeman's contribution to the science fiction division. His fictional soldiers age only months traveling at faster-than-light speeds while the centuries of time on earth make it seem increasingly foreign.

If you're a fan of the Rex Stout who-done-its, then "FAMILY AFFAIR" is for you. Nero Wolfe investigates the murder of his favorite waiter at Rusterman's (obviously one of his pet restaurants as well.)

Or how about the mystique which seems to be so vogue-ish these days? In "JULIA" by Peter Straub, a woman struggling to cope with a bad marriage and the grisly death of her daughter is pursued by the ghost (?) of a thoroughly evil 9-year-old girl.

In "MAY I CROSS YOUR GOLDEN RIVER?", Paige Dixon writes about an 18-year-old boy who attempts to cope with the realization that he has a fatal disease.

And Clare Darcy's "LADY PAMELA" tells the story of Pamela who tries to help her brother who is accused of stealing an important military memorandum.

A young CIA agent traces the leakage of atomic secrets to the eccentric but popular Queen of England in "SAVING THE QUEEN" by William F. Buckley. "THE BOOK OF ABIGAIL AND JOHN" by Lyman Butterfield involves selected letters of the Adams family from 1762-1784 as well as the biographies of Abigail Smith Adams, 1744-1818, and John Adams, president of the United States, 1735-1826.

If you're in an ambitious and creative mood, reach for "STAINED GLASS WINDOW ART" by Luciano. An illustrated 104-page book, it explains glass painting and staining and tells all about stained glass.

Complete words and music can be found in "THE BEST OF BROADWAY" which contains 80 great songs of the American musical theatre arranged for piano, vocal and guitar. The foreword is written by Richard Rodgers.

Fans of the late comedian will love "JACK BENNY," an intimate biography by Irving Fein. Complete with photographs, 319 pages tell Jack's story from 1894-1974.

And there's lots more in those packed book-lined isles so take a little time to visit the library and see for yourself just what's available.

Francie to march in parade

On the Fourth of July, Francie Lyn Daugherty will be 12-years old and a special part of her big day will be her participation in the Independence Day parade in Manistique, Mich. where she was born in 1964. Francie will be outfitted as a giant birthday cake as she joins the other marchers. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daugherty of Burtrig Road, Belleville, Francie, her brother Frank and her sister Kelly, will be taking their vacation in the Daugherty's home town of Manistique over the holiday. Having just completed six years at Haggerty Elementary School where she was active in sports Francie will enter South Junior High School in the fall.

Chamber maps now available

The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a new up-to-date map of the Belleville area.

The new guides will go to people in other states requesting information on the community, to salespeople, schools and churches. Most importantly, they will be available to people who call at the Chamber office when they are unable to locate a business or particular street.

The map will be issued on July 1.

Church box social set for 3rd of July

Members of the Romulus Wesleyan Church plan to kick off their Bicentennial celebration with a box social to be held July 3 starting at 1 p.m. in the park behind the church.

On Sunday morning, July 4, people are expected to attend church dressed in the attire of years gone by. Women will sit on one side of the church and the men on the other as worshippers did some 200 years ago.

Many of the church's young people will later be joining the city's parade.

The film, "In God We Trust" was shown at a recent meeting.

Dad, son banquet held in Romulus

The recent father and son banquet at the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus was prepared and served by the United Methodist Women's organization with Joy Lamberson as general chairman.

Alan Wilkerson, head track coach at Romulus High School, was guest speaker and Mrs. Ada Scott handled the musical arrangements.

Those recognized during the awards presentation were the oldest father, Ben Scott; the oldest son, Dave McCrory; youngest father, Alan Wilkerson; youngest son, Ronald Carpenter; from the farthest distance, Jim Bird, and father with the most sons present, Carl Morris.

State office handles gripes

The Secretary of State's office now has the go ahead to resume handling consumer complaints about motor vehicle repair garages, as a result of action in Ingham County Circuit Court.

The action clarifies an earlier temporary restraining order which had blocked Michigan's new auto repair law, pending the outcome of a legal challenge filed by a group of repair garage owners.

The order allows Secretary of State Richard H. Austin to register motor vehicle repair facilities on a voluntary basis and provides for refunding if a final court decision necessitates it. In addition, it provides for written estimates on repair work and permits the continuation of the mechanics certification program, also on a voluntary basis.

Austin reported that his department has already reactivated its special telephone lines for receiving and handling consumer problems. In Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb Counties, people may lodge complaints by calling 357-5108. In all other counties, they may call toll free, 800-292-4204.

Anyone who believes that a motor vehicle dealer has treated him dishonestly, or who believes he has been deceived by false advertising or deceptive sales practices, has access to the same statewide telephone lines available for vehicle repair complaints.

"As in all customer problems, people should naturally take their concerns first to the management of the facility," Austin said. "Then, if they are not satisfied with the results, they may contact our department for action."

Leukopheresis prolongs lives of patients

Western Wayne County residents can help prolong and save the lives of leukemia persons as a white blood cell donor.

Referred to as leukopheresis, the process draws from donors a certain type of white blood cell vital to fighting simple infections like a sore throat or an abscess in victims of leukemia.

"It is not a specific treatment for leukemia, but because leukopheresis supplies normal white blood cells it gives patients a chance to fight infection until effective antileukemic treatment can be introduced and take effect," said Kathryn Beattie, special assistant to the director of the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Regional Blood Center.

The process is more time consuming than the donation of a pint of blood. The donor spends two to three hours, sitting in a contour chair, while blood is drawn out of one arm, passed over nylon filters to remove the white cells and returned to the body through a needle in the other arm.

South honorees

Six students in the seventh and eighth grades at Belleville's South Junior High School recently were awarded the Principal's Award, based on their friendliness and courteousness, respect of authority, accepting responsibility, accepting criticism, good attendance and few tardies, neat appearance, respect of other people and property, cooperation, ambitions, enthusiasm and school spirit. In all 39 students vied for the honor with the field narrowed down to Suzette Leabu, seventh grade (from left); John Losen, eighth grade; Sue Shoup, eighth grade; Rick Doe, seventh grade; Kim Buchanan, ninth grade; and Brian Brinkerhoff, ninth grade.

Welborn bill would correct unemployment deficiencies

Citing figures on what he calls abuses in the unemployment compensation program in Michigan, State Senator Jack Welborn has introduced Senate Bill 1490 to correct the deficiencies.

The bill requires that people who voluntarily quit or are fired for intoxication, insubordination, drug use or other misconduct be disqualified for benefits until they obtain and hold other employment for a minimum period of time and demonstrate that they are willing to work.

"Unemployment compensation was intended to help people who, through no fault of their own, are out of work," Welborn said. "It was never intended to reward quitters."

A recent survey showed that Michigan ranks second highest in costs of unemployment compensation. Welborn said he is determined that this cost to the employer be lowered and made more equitable to both the employer and the deserving employee.

Welborn's main concern lies with the people who voluntarily quit their jobs and draw unemployment benefits.

"In 1974, people who voluntarily quit their jobs numbered 147,166," he said. "That figure skyrocketed to 184,423 in 1975."

Welborn also commented on the $571 million debt that is currently owed to the federal government. "Employers must pay that back," he said. "This is just one more reason why the legislature must help ease the burden for employers."

Welborn said that with passage of Senate Bill 1490, Michigan employers could save a minimum of $100 million per year.

"If this legislation passes, it will no longer pay to be a quitter," Welborn said.

County makes move to aid crime victims

A movement is underway in Wayne County to improve the service and treatment of victims of crime and witnesses, who now number nearly one half million each year.

Three Wayne County commissioners have introduced a resolution that would place the needs, rights and support services of the crime victim and supporting witnesses on par with those of the accused.

Commissioners Mary E. Dumas, of Livonia, and Jarrette Simmons and Edward K. Michalski, both of Detroit, say the criminal justice system will fail "unless priority attention is focused on the plight of victims and witnesses who have been turned off by a system that, for the most part, has ignored their needs."

Their proposal would require that police agencies explain all rights, responsibilities and services available to any victim or witness to a crime in Wayne County — at the initial meeting. This would be comparable to the reading of rights to the accused.

"Out of a sense of fair play, and in an attempt to reverse criminal activity, past programs have focused on protecting the rights and welfare of the prisoner," Mrs. Dumas stated.

"We've spent billions to beef up police and court agencies without much thought for the most important member of the law enforcement team — the witness," said Mrs. Simmons.

The commissioners agreed that public respect for the entire law enforcement justice system was ailing and that the best prescription was to recognize the important role of the law-abiding citizen.

Here is the specific plan they have called for: That Wayne County supply all police agencies with a card to be given to witnesses by the initial response officer, clearly stating the rights, responsibilities, and services for victims and witnesses.

The county coordinate existing programs, which provide support services and benefits to victims: vocational rehabilitation, emergency food and shelter, Social Security survivors' benefits, food stamps, family and individual counseling, and transportation and protection.

That the county improve the preparation and treatment of witnesses by criminal justice agencies.

"Last year, over 150,000 citizens were witnesses in cases brought for warrants in Wayne County," Michalski said. "Although the county has an ongoing Victim-Witness Assistance program, we'd like to improve upon its already successful track record."

The commissioners cited three areas for improvement: Better communication about court appearance scheduling, case progress, final dispositions and property retrieval; better preparation for the role of the witness in courtroom proceedings; and the training of criminal justice personnel so they could provide more responsive and humane treatment for both victims and witnesses.

"Justice is not an exclusive right of the accused," the commissioners stated. "If the scales are to be balanced democratically, justice must be extended to everyone involved — and be backed with adequate dollars and a firm commitment by government agencies."

Legion post sponsors Bicentennial program

American Legion Post 282 is sponsoring a Bicentennial celebration now through July 6 in Ypsilanti.

Reportedly, the largest carnival ever held in the community, the fun fest starts at 6 o'clock tonight at the Eastern Michigan University football stadium, located at Huron River Drive and Hewitt.

The World of Please Shows has combined two carnivals to offer more than 30 rides for the event.

The carnival will open at 6 p.m. each day except for Kiddies Day tomorrow when from 1 to 4 p.m. children will be able to ride as many of the rides for a flat price of $3.

The legion also will host its annual Fourth of July parade on Saturday. The parade will include 85 units of which there will be 15 bands and drum and bugle corps and 25 floats.

The parade will start at Cross and Wallace streets, proceed east on Cross to Hamilton, then south on Hamilton to Michigan Avenue where it will turn east and travel to Park Street.

At 7 p.m. that evening the drum and bugle competition will be held at Ypsilanti High School's Shadford Football Field, with six groups competing for honors and three corps providing a marching exhibition. The latter trio will be the Ypsilanti Highlanders, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps and the Southern Rebels from Louisiana. Tickets for the contest cost $2.50 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens.

Students receive accolades

Four students in the Belleville-Romulus community have been honored for their academic endeavors while attending Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Named to the academic honors list for the winter semester were New Boston resident Diana Petri of Evans, a senior; Carolyn Dillingham of Harmony Lane, Belleville, a junior; Patrick Genrich of Beechwood Drive, Belleville, a senior, and Carol McGinnis of Whitehorn, Romulus, a senior.

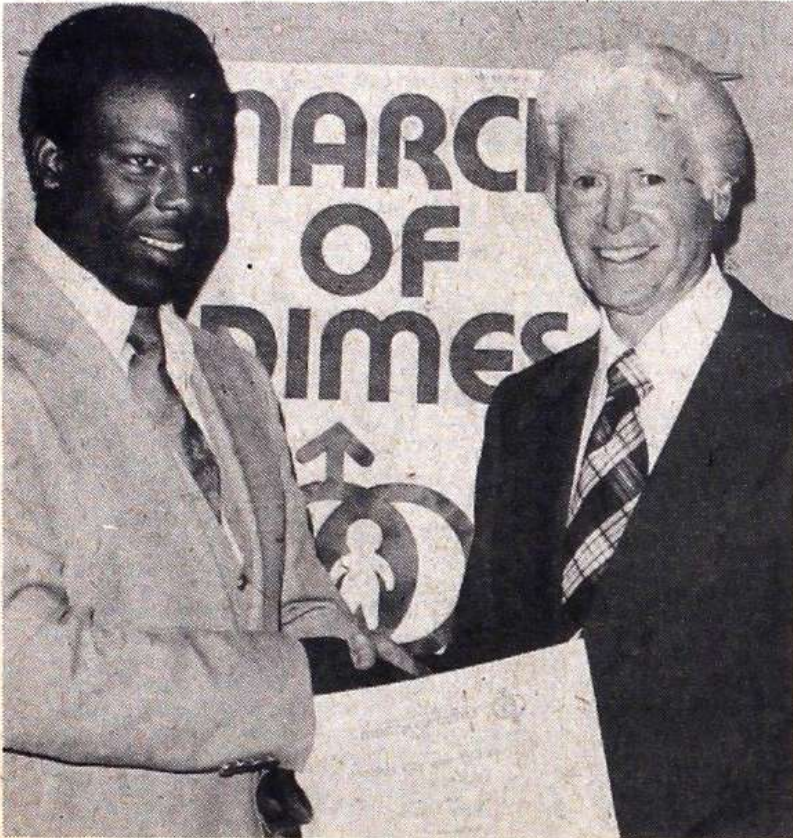

Weekend festival planned

Area residents are invited to the Waltz Homecoming July 8 to 11. Scheduled for the weekend-long event are games, rides, a parade and specially prepared refreshments.

Kiddie Day will be held July 10 from 1 to 5 p.m., followed in the evening by a "German Night" for those interested in ethnic food.

Polish Night is scheduled for July 9.

Information on the homecoming, particularly in joining in the homecoming parade, can be obtained by calling Alvin Lyons at 654-6500.

Scholarship winner

Richard T. Kelly, Wayne County Auditor and chairman of the Executive Board of the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of the March of Dimes, recently presented Romulus resident Gerald Grant Walker (left) with a health career scholarship.

The 1-year, non-renewable scholarship is awarded annually in recognition of the need for well-trained personnel in the health fields. Walker is enrolled in the nursing curriculum at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

125 golfers to compete in '76 classic at Fellows Creek

If you're one of the 125 golfers who is contemplating on playing in the 1976 City Golf Tournament, don't wait to sign up. Do it today.

More than 30 entries already have been received for the July 31-Aug. 1 tournament which will be staged beginning at 8 a.m. at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The par-72 course is located at 2936 Lotz Rd., Canton Township. The tournament is designed to determine the city champs of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and Canton. It is open to residents of the participating cities.

The summer classic, which lured more than 125 golfers last year to Fox Hills, is one of the highlights of the amateur golf season.

"This tournament has been and is very popular with local golfers," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "In past years we have had to turn golfers away, so I hope everyone who is going to play in it registers as soon as possible."

Golfers will play 18 holes on Saturday and finish up the following day (Aug. 1), playing another 18 holes.

There is a $15.50 entry fee which covers the $14 green's fees and the purchase of trophies. Checks should be made out to The Associated Newspapers, Sports Department, and mailed to 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, 48184.

Please stress preferred tee-off times and approximate scores (for pairing purposes) in the entry blank that accompanies this story.

There will be separate city championships held simultaneously for amateur male golfers of all competing communities. Also, additional flight competitions will be staged for each city if the total entry of that city is sufficient.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place finishers in each flight. In case of a tie for a trophy, a "sudden death" playoff will determine the winner.

An additional trophy will be awarded to the winner of the tournament, (medalist).

The golfers also will be playing to make their respective city's recreation team. The low five scorers from each city are eligible to play on the city team in state recreation golf tourney play. The site and date of that state tournament have not yet been determined.

Only bona fide residents may represent a city on the team at the state tournament.

Entries for the city championships will be accepted at the city recreation offices, The Wayne Eagle or by mail. For further information, please contact The Eagle sports desk. 729-4000.

Entries have been received this week by Robert Johnson (Inkster), Allan Rogers (Canton), Steve Ploehn (Canton), Michael J. Diehl (Canton), Roger Wilkes (Garden City), Clint White (Garden City), Tom Osborn (Wayne), Tom Tompkins (Wayne), David Petrillo (Westland), John Ferree (Westland), Roger Hayes (Westland), Joe Tencza (Westland), Dan Schewe (Westland), Rick Zylka (Westland) and Jim Whitaker.

Westland title quest rolls on Westland Sports Shop should easily get Glass Cruth Lounge's vote as the best team in Westland Men's Major Softball League. The undefeated Westlanders annihilated Glass Cruth 32-2 to remain undefeated in eight starts this season.

The victory gave Westland a two-game cushion over challenger Studio Lounge which lags in second place with a 7-2 won-lost ratio.

Scoring seven times in the first inning, four more in the second, Westland exploded for 10 runs in the third to put the decision away.

Jack Westerlund, the veteran softballer, belted two homers, singled and doubled to single-handedly account for six runs batted in. The winners also received five hits from Tim Abramski while Tom Piscopink, Bruce Thompson and Bob Killingbeck each checked in with three.

Losing pitcher Charley Riffle homered and Ray Brewer also blasted a roundtripper to account for all of the loser's runs.

The league leaders also erased the Dirty Dozen 24-1 in their encounter earlier in the week. The losers averted the shutout when they scored their only run in the second.

Close until the fourth inning, the Westlanders broke it open in the fourth inning when they turned the 4-1 ball game to a 12-1 margin. They picked up six more runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings.

Westerlund again was hot at the plate as he hammered two homers and counted four RBI's. Teammate Abramski also got a four-bagger and a double while Piscopink belted two doubles and tripled. Losing pitcher Ernie Albergast gave up 23 hits, three going to Phil Rancy.

The Dirty Dozen managed 12 hits off of winner Tony Pilarski with Jim Sedik, Bob Taylor, Dick Jacobs and Albergast each getting two.

Meanwhile, Studio Lounge held on to second with a 19-7 victory over the Glass Cruthers. Don Graham went the distance for the winners, scattering seven hits, including home runs to Ray Brewer and Charley Riffle. Dan Zwych, who drilled two singles, and Joe Charboneau, who had a double picked up RBI's for the losers.

Mike Kesutich came through with some fine clutch hitting as he tripled and homered in four RBI's. Dennis Reitz missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get a triple while Studio also received three singles from Gary Naumoff and two safeties from Dennis James who had three RBI's.

Mike Kesutich came through with some fine clutch hitting as he tripled and homered in four RBI's. Dennis Reitz missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get a triple while Studio also received three singles from Gary Naumoff and two safeties from Dennis James who had three RBI's.

Studio parlayed 21-hits and the 15-hit pitching of Tom Davidson into a 17-7 victory over the Dirty Dozen. Studio scored eight times in the first inning then built up a 13-3 second inning lead and was never in trouble.

Reitz blasted losing hurler Albergast for two homers and a double while mates James and Greg Kuhn also homered.

Craig Pallister carded three hits while Dick Jacobs, Rick Deedler and Albergast each had two off of Davidson.

The Buzz Troop scored three runs in the first inning and one each in the second and fourth to post a close 5-2 decision over the Dirty Dozens. Mike Brooke laced a double and triple off of loser Albergast who also gave up a triple and single to Pat Nael.

Winning pitcher Tim Kennedy was tagged for two hits by Craig Pallister. He gave up singles to Deedler, Brian Tubbs and Jacobs.

Big Bill's Sports Shop rallied for three runs in the fifth inning but that's all it got as the Buzz Troop scored a 6-3 victory over their rivals. Two double plays helped the winners erase second and seventh inning Big (Continued on Page B-2)

Midas retains top spot in women's softball league

Though not out of sight or out of reach, Midas Muffler continues to lead the Westland Parks and Recreation women's softball league.

Midas has an enviable 5-0 record, however Studio Lounge and newcomer Lynn's Country Bar won't be counted out of the title picture - the two have 5-1 records.

Studio scored 12 times in both the first and second innings to rattle Wayne County General 35-4 in its latest outing. Pitcher Maureen McIntosh scattered five hits and equalled that output as she homered, doubled twice and picked up three singles and five RBI's for the winners.

Vicki Pier helped out with a homer and triple in two official at bats and counted five RBI's for the evening while outfielder Sharon Hodder's contribution for the day were five singles.

Becky Brown also blasted a grand slam home run in the second inning for the winners.

The losers came up with four runs in the fifth inning as Cindy Koscieln, the losing pitcher, came through with a two-run single.

Johnny Shell's disposed of the WCG squad 10-4 as they parlayed 16 hits, four by Gloria Geannette and two by Debbie Sinclair, into their second win in five starts.

Winning hurler Marie Fletcher gave up nine hits, including a grand slam home run to Janice Spencer in the fourth inning.

Lynn's kept pace with a 16-2 victory over the Inmates who got to winning pitcher Karen Brookins for 17 hits, three by Bev Liverance and two doubles by Dian Kasper. Lynn's Sue Chopp drove home two runs with a triple and a pair of singles while Brookins helped her cause with a homer and single.

Arlene Bozyk, the losing hurler, was tagged for 20 hits. Lynn's had a relatively easier time with Town & Country Dbs which fell behind 11-2 and never caught the second place team.

Becky Comeau and Chopp each slammed home runs and counted six and four RBI's, respectively. Town & Country's Gayle Kandrum missed hitting for the cycle as she belted a single, double and triple for three RBI's.

Peggy McMahon contributed three hits in three appearances at the plate for the losers.

Baum setting pace in Romulus league

Vickie Brainerd's grand slam home run triggered a six-run fourth inning as undefeated Baum's Funeral Home buried Baldo's 16-2 in a Romulus Parks and Recreation women's softball game last week.

The victory was the fourth straight for Baum's which is the undefeated West Division leader. Miss Brainerd finished the game with two hits in three appearances at the plate. She counted six runs batted in.

Sue Kramer, the winning pitcher, helped her cause with a pair of singles and a double, accounting for four RBI's. Teammates Carol Hammell and Barb Moers went four-for-five and three-four-four, respectively.

The Spirit of 76 rallied for three runs in the last of the sixth to overtake and beat runners-up 2001, 8-6. Trailing 6-5 going into the last inning, the winners received a key double from Nan Kokia who chased home the winning runs. Miss Kokia wound up with three RBI's thanks to a double and single.

Peggy Summerfield stroked three singles for the winners who got an excellent pitching performance from Jan Kampson.

In other action, the Odd Squad overwhelmed the Hustlers 21-6 as Pat Holcomb drilled a 3-run home run and Debbie Dick hammered a 2-run roundtripper. Teammate Janeal Eberline chipped in a run-scoring triple.

Bertha Sterling picked up her fifth personal victory on the mound.

Kerrettes snapped a three-game losing streak at the expense of the 7-11 Party Store 10-5 as Vicki Burns tossed a seven hitter. Miss Burns also looked good at the plate where she swatted five singles. Teammate Janet Leckenby rapped three singles and homered while Sharon Ohannesian laced a homer and a pair of singles.

Kerrettes' Diane Gregory also checked in with three hits, including a two-run triple.

The young Pioneers held on to their share of second place with a convincing 19-2 victory over Dinos. While Nora Hatcher shined on defense, mates Rose Thomas and Jane Shaffer provided the sparks on offense. Both Thoms and Shaffer homered for the winners who scored nine times in the second inning.

Seven-Eleven broke loose for 26 hits en route to a one-sided 30-2 victory over The Hustlers. Winning pitcher Candy Triffin missed a rare shutout performance when she gave up single runs in the third and fourth innings.

Debbie Rashi blasted a pair of home runs, one a grand slammer. Her double and single helped provide eight RBI's. Terry Anderson chipped in with three hits while Jody Toner had two singles and Piper Myers' double scored two runs.

In the only other game, the Polka Dot Party Store outlasted the Red Apple 11-5 as Delores Trevino was the winning hurler. Sue Hobson and Margaret Ayers split six hits while Debbie Owens homered and collected a couple of singles for the winners.

Nancy Wands' single and triple led to two runs for the winners.

Leaseway is 'class'

The class of the Westland Men's Minor Softball League Blue Division?

That's an easy one - Leaseway of Detroit, of course.

Leaseway unleashed a 23-hit attack to topple Charles Country Bar 16-3 to post its sixth successive victory and remain undefeated on the year.

Pitcher Pat Mulroy limited Charlie's to 12 hits, giving up a pair of doubles and singles to Dick Davis and Dan Paulson. Meanwhile, teammates Ed Schweizer, Mike McGill and Jim Perras went to work on loser Dale Sandlor.

Schweizer connected for two homers and a single and batted in four runs in a three for four day while McGill chased home four RBI's with a homer and single (2-2) and Perras counted a homer and three singles for his day's work.

Bob's and Al's Collision cut a 11-all tie with a two run rally in the eighth to nip P.J.'s Lounge 13-11 in their showdown. Third baseman Mike Mousseau sliced four singles and a double and accounted for three RBI's in a perfect five for five day and teammate Terry Maas carded a triple and two singles for the winners who got to losing pitcher Bob Fullerton for 25 hits.

Winner Don Ratkowski gave up 18 hits, three each to Steve Wilson and Larry Michelen.

EMU Hurons attract GC West's Tom Poole

Eastern Michigan University baseball Coach Ron Oestrike has announced the signing of All-Area baseball standout, Tom Poole, to a national letter of intent.

Poole a June graduate of Garden City West High, is the fifth high school player to sign a national letter of intent to play baseball for the Hurons, the runner-up in the NCAA College World Series during the 1976 season.

Poole kept Coach Bob Dropp's Tigers at West in the thick of the Tri-River Conference title race this year, finishing second to undefeated Taylor Kennedy.

Michigan sportsmen are fortunate to be in such a good position to "jump off" to some of the world's best fishing and hunting. A drive to the Canadian Soo can put us into the kind of spot where we can easily lose the crowds just by heading off into wilderness that runs right up to the edge of a number of major cities.

Roads continue to be improved in Ontario and car travel is still the favored means of "getting away from it all." The really serious sportsman, though, will probably favor a fly-in trip that really leaves civilization far behind.

Time was when this was considered an expensive way to spend a vacation but costs are not all that high once they are broken down. Most expensive, of course, is a lone sportsman flying into an area. The majority of us are sociable and like to be with companions we enjoy being around. A fly-in trip thus split three or four ways becomes very reasonable indeed.

Nor is it necessary to own a lot of high-priced equipment. At the Ontario Soo and Wawa, about 150 miles farther north, there are reliable flying services that can put you into a remote lake for some really fine fishing or hunting. All you have to do is bring your own sleeping bag, groceries and rod or gun plus a license.

Camps in these areas can be as plush or primitive as you wish, ranging from lodging where meals are cooked and served for you, to a tent camp with bunks, gas stove and pots and pans to do-it-yourself. Boats have already been flown into these sites and motors are provided or you can bring your own along for a little cheaper rate.

Say there are three of you who want to be flown into a lake for some good speckled trout fishing where you won't see anybody else. This can be done for as little as $139 apiece for a whole week. If you want to stay longer just add on an extra $10 a day. Who could possibly call that expensive in this day and age?

Is it safe to fly into a lake and land on pontoons? I have done it many times but, admittedly, I am fussy who I fly with and you should be, too. The safest pilots I have ever encountered are those at Air-Dale bases in Sault Ste. Marie and Wawa. I would fly anywhere with them because if conditions are at all doubtful they just don't go.

While on the subject of an Ontario wilderness vacation, it might be well to mention the recent changes at Canadian Customs. This is the year that Canada hosts the summer Olympic Games in Montreal. In view of the terrorism which hit the Olympics last time in Europe, the Canadians are taking no chances.

This means you will probably be stopped when you enter Canada and be asked to produce either a passport or your birth certificate. A driver's license or social security card won't do. They want to be sure who you are. This is only a minor nuisance, however, and is nothing when compared to entering other foreign countries. It's just a case of being prepared.

Our good friend Russ McKee, editor of Michigan Natural Resources, recently reviewed the novel, "Gums," in that magazine. Readers of this column will be interested although McKee admits the Hook should never have been written.

The story centers on an enormous toothless trout which supposedly inhabited northern Lake Michigan in the 1890's. Known as "Gums", this fish lost all his teeth as an infant trying to swallow a fishing lure known as a "Hook-Em". The lure had 12 treble hooks and was a veritable underwater engine of destruction.

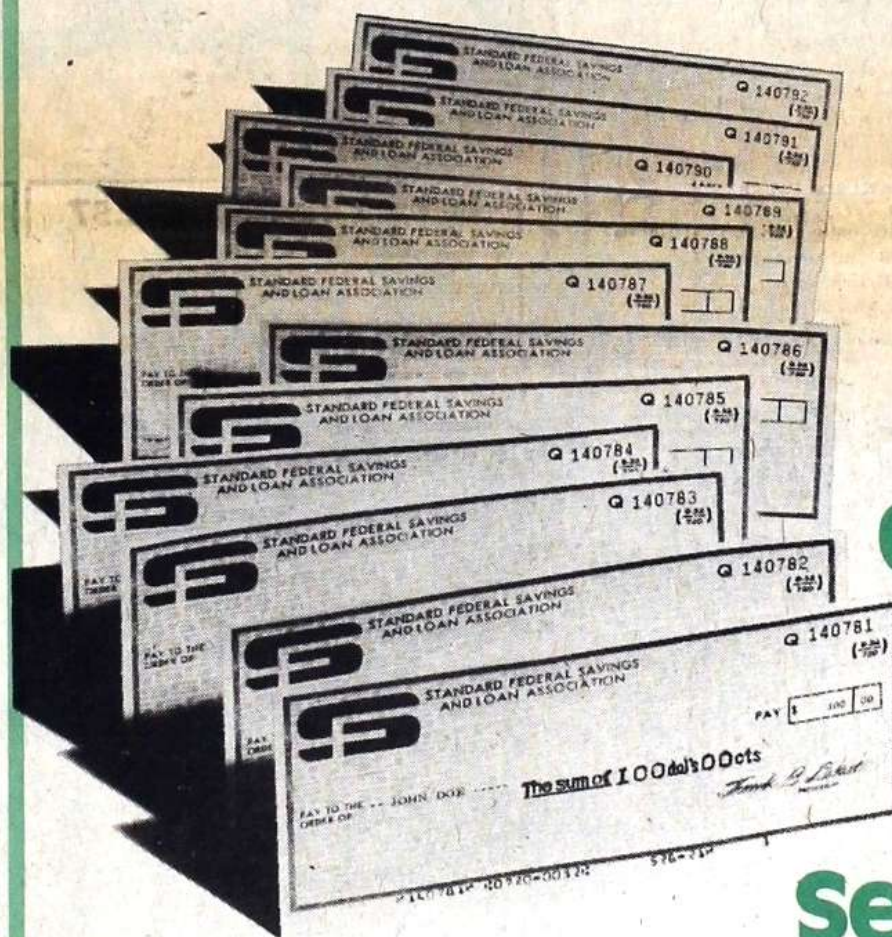

Now toothless and tender-mouthed, Gums turned from eating spiny fish to softer fare such as frogs, swimming mice, baby ducks and furry muskrats. On this diet he grew rapidly and in time began snatching cats off docks and dogs off beaches. He was never observed doing it but loss of these pets sparked rumors of his existence, particularly at the little resort village of Acme, Michigan, where his offshore activities centered.

One day he was seen downing a plump porker; the pig had gotten enough of the annual Acne Greased Pig Chase and, being greased, was trying to swim to Wisconsin. At least a dozen Acne citizens claimed they saw this enormous white trout curl out of the water and down the pig in one easy gulp. Some said the fish was at least 24 feet long.

Fear struck the community when Gums took his first human victim, Mrs. Minny Snowflake, a lady of advanced age out walking the beach with her two cocker spaniels. Gums consumed all but her chiffon scarf, then, downed the dogs, leaving only their rhinestone-studded pink leather collars. In quick succession, he gobbled down two sailors wearing boaters in a dinghy; a pramload of olives and leprechauns practicing

Wayne Class A title race is too close to call

Westside clings to first place by half game

Precariously clinging to the No. 1 spot, Westside Dompolski hasn't been able to shake challengers Benny's and Capraros Lounge in Wayne's Class A men's softball league.

The frontrunner has a 9-3 won-lost ratio. Benny's and Capraros' are breathing down the leader's necks, with 8-4 and 9-5 records, respectively.

Capraros' lost ground when Burghuff's exploded for 10 runs in the sixth inning en route to an easy 26-7 victory over the third place contingent.

In that decisive sixth, Burghoffs sent 13 men to the plate, Tim Stone's 2-run homer climaxed a 10-run rally. Mike Burton also had two hits in that inning and finished with three singles for the night. Teammate Mike Plagens chipped in a pair of doubles and a single for the winners who collected 22 hits off of a pair of Capraros pitchers, Ray Decher and Dave Broad.

Denny Colligan handcuffed the losers on a 11-hitter, giving up three hits to Ron Jaskot who collected a pair of doubles and a single, two to Dan Christie and three hits, including a home run to Broad.

Meanwhile, Spicer Carpentry stayed in the title chase by edging Huron Merchants 7-6. Spicer pulled out the game, which lasted only 45 minutes, with a two run last of the seventh spurt.

In that inning Bob Killenbeck singled home Gary Truskowski with the winning run. The losers got to winning pitcher Harry Allen for 12 hits, three by Terry Haag and two each by Rich Moore and Steve Lezotte.

Truskowski led Spicer's attack with three singles and a double. Charlie Pierson and Steve Pat-

Class B leader is undefeated

While the rest of the Class B teams burn, Fiddle Bar keeps winning.

The Wayne "B" leader stretched its winning streak to seven games on the tune of a 17-4 victory over Four Seasons Sporting Goods.

The Fiddlers amassed a 21-hit attack which included three hits each from Gary Dargo, Dennis Cowell, Dick Dargo and Al Campbell. Jim Hubbs, who went two for three against losing pitcher Bruce McClure, carded the only home run of the game. Teammate Gerry Chesney also collected two hits.

Cowell, the winning pitcher, gave up seven hits, two to Larry Graham.

Fiddler's nearest challenger, Michigan Bell, kept its slim title hopes alive with a narrow 15-13 victory over Unistrut. The victory was Bell's fifth in eight starts.

Michigan Bell struck for six runs in the fifth and sixth innings, then held off a late Unistrut rally which provided the losers with five runs in the sixth and two more in the seventh innings.

Rick Tolar's three hits led Bell's assault upon loser Pete Watts who also was tagged for two hits by Ralph Prestia, Brent Breed and Frank Hargrove.

Unistrut's Mark Davis carved out three singles from winner Rick Fontaine who scattered 11 hits. Don Kanelo and Mark Merritt split two hits each.

A three-run surge in the bottom of the seventh lifted J & D Auto over Johnson's Carbonic, 8-7. Johnson took the lead momentarily in the top of the seventh when they tilted the board for two runs but Marv Leavins' two-out single in the seventh settled the issue.

Eleven Johnson errors led to its demise.

J & D's also received two hits each from Jack Kline and John Boldt while mate Tim Wiencek was given credit for the 10-hit victory. Loser Barth Bucciarelli was tagged for 14 hits.

Don Petrepe, Bob Davzet, Dick Coughlin, Jim Baldwin and Jerry Gourlay each sliced two hits for the losers.

A flawless defensive game and a six-hit pitching performance by McClure were the difference in Four Seasons' 16-4 victory over the All-Stars.

Gerry Wood hammered a 2-run home run and Paul Lambert's double drove in one run for the winners.

Unistrut made the most of 11 hits as it turned back J & M 10-5. Winning pitcher Pete Watts helped his cause with a pair of singles while Fred Buzzell homered and singled for the winners. Brad Davey came through with three hits off of losing pitcher Mike Catanzarite.

Terry Rhoades, John Wood and Don Vincent split six hits between them for the losers.

J & D pulled off a rare triple play-first baseman Claude Johnson speared a line drive, stepped on first for the second out, then the first baseman fired over to third to nail a runner - but at the end Michigan Bell had a 7-4 victory.

J & D's Jack Kline and Bell's Ken Kingst exchanged home runs while Bell also received three hits from Bob Fritz.

Vern Leanrz, John Boldt and Matt Falerics each had two hits for the losers.

The Knights of Columbus No. 3021 continued to set the pace in Class C as the league-leaders have a perfect 7-0 record. Four Seasons is one notch down (6-1) while N.B. A. Lab is seated in third with a 4-3 record.

Jac's Lounge scored seven times, then hung on to edge Annapolis 13-12 in a hard-fought contest. Ken Sheldon, the winning pitcher, also starred at the plate where he picked up three singles.

Dan Schewe, Dick Fisch and, Bob Wood and John McAllister each checked in with two hits. Both Wood and McAllister pounded out

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

In a car equipped with an automatic transmission, be sure the gearshift lever is firmly set in the park position when starting the car. If the starter seems not to work in park, try the neutral. If it still does not work, jiggle the gearshift lever to both sides of the neutral position. A safety switch connected to the lever may have become misaligned, so that it cuts the starting circuit even when the indicator on the transmission quadrant appears to be correctly positioned. If the car now starts, have the safety switch checked anyway.

Miss LaPlante eyes berth on U.S. Olympic team

Belleville's Derby LaPlante, a former Eastern Michigan athlete, is taking part in the U.S. Olympic Trials at the University of Oregon in Eugene, Oregon.

Miss LaPlante is one of the best women's hurdlers in the nation. Just last week she lost to No. 1 - ranked Jan Federick of the Los Angeles Track Club by a mere three 100's of a second in the National AAU meet.

She completed in the U.S. trials in 1968 and 1972 but was never as well prepared as she is this year. The former EMU coed has expressed the belief that she can make the Olympic team and possibly win a medal at Montreal.

The trials continue on the Oregon campus through June 27.

Also eyeing U.S. track berths are Wayne Memorial's Dan Smith, a distance runner, and Detroit's Stan Vinson. Both are former EMU athletes.

Vinson captured two consecutive 600-yard National Collegiate Athletic Association indoor crowns while at Eastern. He will be com-

Undefeated in his last six races, Foster again won pro class honors at the E-Z Rider Raceway. Jim White, also from Wayne, managed to finish fourth despite running the last few laps on a flat tire.

Jerry Powers of Belleville was the 360-B Class winner and Charlie Beavers, also from Belleville, finished third in that division

5 homers shock Bratcher

Five home runs, two each by Ken Roberts and Link Bundon, paved the way for Wayne Police's victory Bratcher Electric in an Over 30 Softball League game.

Bratcher, which took a 6-2 lead in the second when Ed McMurray connected for a grand slam home run off of winning pitcher Dean Smith, gave up five runs in the third inning and two each in the next three to record its second loss.

Losing hurler Harry Fill also was tagged for a homer by John Wright.

Jim Law also belted a homer for Bratcher while mates Brent Green and Fill contributed two hits each.

Civitan made it two out of five as they humbled Eloise Inn 14-8. Eloise, though, collected 15 hits off of winner John Dascenzo who gave up a homer to Bill Fritz as well as three hits to Joe Kadlec and a single and double to Paul Barker.

Dascenzo and Andy Desaeager each stroked three hits off of loser Barker. Tom Daily collected four singles. Jerry Higgs, Bill Sexton, and Dick Brewis had two hits apiece for the winners.

Bratcher came back to score a 16-7 victory over Civitan as Fill and McMurray gave up 10 hits in recording the victory. Two of those 10 went to Bill Marciniak while Jerry Polin singled and doubled.

Estes Dobozy managed three of the 17 hits off of loser Dick Brewis while McMurray drilled a triple and homered, accounting for three RBIs. Bud Welch's two singles drove in four runs while Fill and Eugene Beyer each had a pair of singles.

A 10-run sixth inning Ernie Collison outburst wasn't enough as it fell to the Eloise Inn 24-12.

Eloise ended the slugfest in the eighth as it scored three runs to break the deadlock. Jim Stampoff, Bill Fritz and Dempsey Yearout each homered for the winners who also got two hits from Bob Nelson and a pair of singles and triple from Harvey Fielder.

Victor Kraus's double and triple drove in four of Ernie's runs. Ken Roberts and Roger Sanford split four singles.

In other "A" action, Garden City Sporting Goods emerged atop of a 10-3 score with Town and Country Lanes as winning pitcher Joe Kadlac tossed a 6-hitter. Teammates Joe Golaniak and Ron Robertson supported him with three hits each.

Patterson counted 5 RBI's thanks to a pair of homers while Golaniak missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get a home run. Kadlac helped his own cause by swatting three singles off of losing pitcher Ken Stack who was the victim of an 18-hit attack.

Bill Frazier homered and doubled while Fred Shaffer picked up a pair of singles for the losers.

John Nethuston and Brian Hopton split six hits with Hopton accounting for four RBI's. Vince Walker singled twice for the losers.

In other close one, Jack Demmer Ford's eked out a 12-11 victory over Annapolis. Annapolis stunned the winners with an 8-run sixth inning but Demmer's retaliated with two runs in the bottom of the inning to win.

Pat O'Brien's single that scored two in the crucial sixth was the difference. Rex Zonbaris, who tripled and had two singles, Pat Pearson and Mike Saum with six hits between them and Steve Furray who had two doubles were the leaders for Demmer.

Winning pitcher John Franklin gave up nine hits, two each to Kirk Caldwell, Hopton and John Vickerman.

landing maneuvers for the Spanish-American War; and two members of the Acne town council, one of which he spat up as indigestible. For dessert he consumed two lovers eating licorice in a canoe.

Suddenly, fortune turned a cartwheel. The USS Caddis Hatch arrived, a destroyer armed with depth charges. Those were hurled about in violent fashion, making hefty underwater crunching sounds and blowing out some windows in the village. When peace was restored, Gums was nowhere to be seen. From that day, to this, so far as is known, no more humans have been lost to the big fish.

Many believe he was not killed; merely that he went to deeper water to sire a whole lake-full of dangerously large salmon, steelheads and brown trout which, admittedly, do populate those waters today. We have heard, in fact, that a film of this story will be made in the near future entitled, "GUMS" and sponsored by the Munch-Munch Chewing Gum Company, to be followed in short order by the sequel, "SON OF A GUMS."

Soon after that there will be a TV documentary taking a very negative view of this whole subject, "THE GUMS OF AUTUMN."

"Ho Hums," says McKee. "You will find more characters and a better plot by reading the telephone directory."

Canton has new leader

Mobil takes over 1st place

Battling its way past a pesky Moeller contingent 11-10, Mobil Lounge has moved to the top of the standings in the Canton Parks and Recreation women's softball league.

Moeller jumped out in front in the first inning with three runs as Sharon Smith drove in two runs with a single.

But, Mobil came back in the second with eight runs on a 3-run homer by Carol Smith and a grand slam home run by Cheryl Caughey.

Then, Moeller got five runs of its own in the third to pull within one run, 9-8.

Mobil Lounge picked up two more in the fourth on only one hit as Moeller made three errors.

Moeller had its last chance in the sixth, scoring two runs on a single by June Beachum, a triple by Stella Roginski, and an error by Dianne Merritt in right field, all with two cuts, but Bert Towshack hit into a fielder's choice to end the game.

In the other women's games, Meijer's beat College Park 12-9. Tough-luck College Park has yet to win a game this year.

Betty Bird and Georgette St. Amant both blasted home-runs for the winners.

Both Clark Block and Little Caesars lost games last week as the "B" Division of the Canton Men's League stayed tight and with the season more than half over.

Seven teams still have a chance at the title.

Clark Block took care of winless Meijer's early in the week 13-6, but then an improving Star Furniture squad edged them 8-7 as Bill Warren banged a two-run triple in the fifth and then scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Bob Slusarski.

Little Caesar's lost a close one to Deer Creek 10-9.

Caesar's held a 7-3 lead going into the fifth when Deer Creek came up with six runs on five hits, capped by Dave Stroner's two-run double.

Caesar's rallied in the seventh with two runs but Stroner retired the last two men with the tying and winning runs on base to preserve the win.

Caesar's came back on Thursday to stomp Strock 16-9.

Smith Realty's burst of power is the "big story" in Canton this week as they pounded Latin Quarter 32-7 and Perlongo 22-10.

Smith sent 20 men to the plate in the second inning against Latin Quarter as they scored 16 runs on ten hits for their biggest inning of the year.

Altogether they banged out seven home runs with Bob Carr and Bill Barnes getting two each and Bernie LaPorte, Dale Merritt, and Larry Labo belting one apiece.

Merritt also contributed with three singles and a triple to give him a 5-for-6 evening.

The following night, Smith blasted Perlongo 22-10, displaying their power again by hitting five home runs with Bill Barnes belting three out of the park for six RBI's.

The wind was blowing out strongly, but he didn't need it as all three would have been out of any park on any night. Bob Carr and Bernie LaPorte also hit home runs.

McMurray Insurance dumped

Perlongo 11-3 and Plymouth Equipment Construction 13-7 to hang on to the top spot in the "A" Division.

This week Plymouth faces powerful Smith Realty on Tuesday, the game of the week.

Massey stayed right behind Smith in the standings as they slaughtered Plymouth Equipment 23-6 and beat Latin Quarter 19-7.

County-wide plan is readied for massive flu vaccination

The Detroit and Wayne County Health departments have prepared a county-wide plan to vaccinate 2½ million people against the swine flu well before the flu season hits Michigan in December.

The federally-financed vaccination program is expected to start Sept. 1 with the elderly and high-risk patients given top priority, according to Health Department directors Dr. Perry Stearns of Wayne County and Dr. William Clextan of Detroit.

It will be the largest single immunization program ever undertaken in the history of Detroit and Wayne County, and one of the largest efforts in the nation. It is aimed at the entire population of nearly 2.7 million people.

Exact days and times to get the flu shots at various sites throughout the metropolitan Detroit area will be finalized at a later date, pending the arrival of the vaccine and a necessary state-wide scheduling plan.

But the health directors said the vaccine and the state plan, which involves coordinating manpower and jet injector guns to painlessly administer the vaccine, will be ready in time to give citizens protection against a possible outbreak of the swine flu.

In the meanwhile, Detroit and county officials are prepared to open convenient mass immunization clinics at no cost to the public.

A 2-part program has been devised with most of the immunization expected to take place in September and early October.

Phase I will be directed at chronically ill individuals and those over 65, with Phase II, planned to begin in late September, aimed at the general population.

Although the city and the county are coordinating efforts to get the job done, each will operate its own independent program with the city serving Detroit residents and the county providing for outcounty citizens.

The Wayne County Phase I Clinic program tentatively is scheduled for Sept. 1-7, at 10 outcounty locations, to be announced later.

The time period includes a weekend and the hours will be flexible, probably 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Stearns said.

"We expect to vaccinate 110,000 people in this category," he added. "They will receive a bi-valent vaccination that also will give them protection against Victoria flu."

Detroit's Phase I program is planned for Sept. 11-19 and is expected to serve 200,000 senior and chronically ill citizens, Clextan stated.

Wayne County plans to vaccinate the general population (Phase II) in late September or early October.

Mass immunization clinics will be set up at 50 outcounty locations, most in a school community setting.

"We estimate we'll be vaccinating 800,000 people in two or three weeks," Stearns said. "In the morning, our health workers will begin in elementary schools and end at a local high school."

"The adult population can then come to the school, probably between 3:30 and 8:30 p.m., for the vaccine."

Both Health Departments will make the vaccine available to private physicians, free of charge, for distribution to their high-risk and general patients.

Hospitals, long-term care centers, nursing and convalescent home also will receive the free vaccine. In addition, health authorities are inviting industrial and business firms with medical facilities to help out by giving the vaccinations to their employees.

The county has asked for $140,000 from the state to administer the program. Detroit has applied for $163,000.

Stearns and Clextan are co-chairing the Influenza Task Force, organized in May to develop the large-scale health program, which is more encompassing than the polio program since it has to be done in such a short span of time and involves the entire population. It also will require extensive volunteer help, both medical and non-medical.

"I strongly recommend that everyone who could catch this potentially fatal illness get vaccinated," Dr. Stearns added. "There is some question about whether children — particularly those under five — need the vaccine, but as soon as we receive study results from the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, we'll advise the public."

Fur trader typifies lifestyle of 1700s

In the fourth part of a special Bicentennial series by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, David A. Armour, assistant superintendent of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, looks into the life of fur trader Jean Marie Ducharme.

Jean Marie Ducharme lived between 1723 and 1807, working as a fur trader in New France, primarily in the area now known as Michigan. His life illustrates that of the voyageurs of his day.

Born at Lachine, the embarkation point for canoes engaged in the western fur trade, Ducharme first ventured into the trade in 1752 when he sent a canoe of merchandise to the Illinois country.

This was a rather inauspicious time to begin trading in that area since rival English traders from Pennsylvania were moving into the Ohio Valley. When the French military hastened to occupy the upper reaches of the Ohio river, Ducharme assisted as a courier in 1754 and helped construct Fort Duquesne (Pittsburgh, Penns.) in 1755.

During the fall of that year Ducharme, "skillful voyageur," supervised a group of 18 men who were bringing supplies to Fort Duquesne from the Illinois country.

After the surrender of Canada to the English, when the Illinois country was still under French control, Ducharme shifted his trade to the Green Bay area. There he wintered in 1762-1763, accommodating himself to the English merchants who recently had moved into the area.

When the Indian uprising erupted in the Great Lakes area in 1763, the British military immediately prohibited the transporting of gunpowder and ammunition into the interior. Ducharme, willing to defy the law in order to gain profits, in August 1763 took several canoes of ammunition up the Ottawa River route to Michilimackinac and LaBay.

Though he made a good profit, he outraged the British merchants. In October of the following year when he returned to Lachine, the merchants petitioned Ralph Burton, Lt. Gov. of Montreal, to have him arrested. Slipping by a detachment of soldiers sent to apprehend him, Ducharme fled. Seeking him, the soldiers went to the trader's house in Lachine where he lived with his wife, Marie Roy-Portelance, whom he had married on Aug. 3, 1761.

Unable to locate Ducharme, despite the help of Edward Chinn, who could recognize him, the troops seized his furs hidden in a neighbor's cellar and found his four canoes in an orchard. Sometime later Jean Marie Ducharme was apprehended, convicted and imprisoned in Montreal, though due to the intervention of Gov. James Murray, he was given a relatively mild punishment.

When peace returned to the Great Lakes, Ducharme once again turned to the Illinois country, where he traded in 1769 and 1772, centering his trade in Cahokia. Westward across the Mississippi were rich trading lands controlled by the Spanish, who excluded British traders.

Ducharme requested a trading permit, but was refused. Tempted by the potential of trading with the Little Osages who lived along the Missouri River, sometime during October or November of 1772, Ducharme, under cover of darkness, took two canoe loads of merchandise into Spanish territory.

When the Spanish authorities at St. Louis learned of Ducharme's presence, they were appalled because the Little Osages were a particularly troublesome tribe with which the Spanish had prohibited all trade.

This was a rather inauspicious time to begin trading in that area since rival English traders ... were moving into the Ohio Valley.

In February 1773, a Spanish detachment under command of Don Pedro Leclerc was sent up the Missouri to apprehend the intruders. On March 11 Ducharme's party was encountered, and an effort was made to get them to surrender peacefully.

Refusing to surrender, Ducharme provoked an exchange of gunfire in which he was wounded in the thigh. Ducharme returned the fire, and then he and his Iroquois servant fled and evaded capture. Ducharme's crew surrendered, and his canoes, furs and merchandise were confiscated and taken to St. Louis. Word of the Ducharme affair sped swiftly eastward where it was much talked about, and some British authorities applauded the Spanish stern resolution in dealing with illegal trade.

Ducharme returned to Montreal, and, undaunted by his adventure, he obtained a license on May 13, 1773 to trade at LaBay or the Mississippi. For the next two years he continued trading, purchasing most of his supplies from Louis Carignan in Montreal.

The outbreak of the American Revolution at first did not hinder the trade. However, while Ducharme was spending the winter of 1775-76 with his family at Lachine, the American army captured Montreal. The Americans tried to get him to support the revolt, but Ducharme remained neutral. He did, however, sell them supplies. Though Ducharme later helped expel the Americans, the British authorities put him in jail for furnishing food to the Americans.

By 1777 Ducharme was once again active in the Indian trade, and the following year sent two canoes to Prairie du Chien on the Mississippi River. At this time he probably had another clash with the Spanish authorities. His son recalled that Ducharme was imprisoned by the Spanish during 1778 or 1779 and threatened with execution.

Only by proving that he had ransomed Spanish captives from the Indians did he obtain his release. In 1779 the success of George Rogers Clark against the British forces in Illinois caused grave uncertainty among the traders at Michilimackinac. Consequently, on July 1, 1779, 32 of them pooled their resources into a General Store to be managed for the common good. Ducharme was one of the largest partners contributing two canoes valued at 30,000 livres. He also was appointed one of the managers of the enterprise. At that time Ducharme's place of residence is listed as the Mississippi.

During the winter of 1779-1780 Lt. Gov. Patrick Sinclair, commandant at Michilimackinac, received a circular letter from Lord George Germain encouraging him to take offensive action against the Spanish who recently had declared war against England. By promising a trade monopoly to traders who helped capture Spanish territory along the Mississippi, Sinclair organized an expedition of traders and Indians to attack St. Louis.

Ducharme, long interested in trading in that area, became one of the expedition's leaders. While Joseph Calve led a force which attacked St. Louis, Ducharme's group attacked Cahokia on the east bank of the Mississippi. Though he knew Cahokia intimately from having lived there and also having reconnoitered the town, Ducharme's attack failed, as did the assault on St. Louis.

Repulsed, Ducharme and his Indian allies, led by Matchekewis, retreated through the Illinois country bringing their prisoners with them. Patrick Sinclair was infuriated by the expedition's failure and accused Calve and Ducharme of treachery. Ducharme particularly was castigated for letting two French prisoners escape. Though Frederick Haldimand gave Sinclair permission to imprison Ducharme and send him to Montreal, Sinclair apparently calmed down and realized that his charges were unfounded.

A couple of years later Ducharme had another encounter with Sinclair, who accused him of trading without a license and assessed him a fine of 22,500 pounds of hay. Ducharme, now nearly 60 years old, apparently retired from the fur trade and returned to Lachine to live.

200th panel nets grant

National Bank of Detroit (NBD) has awarded a $500 Bicentennial grant to the Belleville Bicentennial Committee.

The money will be used for the development of a Bicentennial Park bordering Belleville Lake.

"We're pleased to contribute to the lakeside park program," said Neil S. Banks, manager of NBD's Belleville office. "When finished, the area will be a great place for area residents to spend some time. It will be a fine addition to the community."

In all, NBD awarded 13 Metropolitan Detroit communities a total of $10,000 in grants for their major Bicentennial projects.

Grants were made to those Bicentennial projects that best typified the criteria of having a permanent and positive influence on their community. These suburban grants are addition to $10,000 donated by NBD to the Detroit Bicentennial Commission.

A panel of impartial judges reviewed applications submitted by communities officially listed with the state Bicentennial Commission. On May 20, 1976, the judges made funding recommendations for each project—awarding grants on a combination of merit and financial need based on each project's total budget.

The judges were David Glick, manager, Adult Education, Greenfield Village-Henry Ford Museum; Mrs. Alma Stallworth, deputy director, Detroit Historical Museum; Martha Gibser, community special projects coordinator, Michigan Council for the Arts; Jack Steiner, secretary, contributions committee, Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. Alice Dalligan, chief, Burton Historical Collection, Detroit Public Library.

NBD plans to formally present the grant to the community in several weeks.

Cadets garner honors

The Wayne-Romulus Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, with the assistance of the cadets of the Constellation Squadron, took home five trophies in a drill competition, held at Willow Run Airport recently.

The squadron's accolades were first places in inspections, standard drill and intermediate drill and a trophy for best drill commander, which went to Andy Orvangan Jr.

The squadron has received congratulations from not only its senior officers and members, but also those people who attended.

QUESTION ABOUT FOOD
"Ask Bobbie"
CHATHAM'S
FOOD ECONOMIST

SCOTCH EGGS REFLECT EARLY AMERICAN TRADITIONS

Eggs were used as a leavening agent for cakes, steamed puddings, and similar foods; baking powder as such was unknown. In the kitchens of Thomas Jefferson, a plum pudding required the use of a dozen eggs. Eggs were used in ice cream-making, custards, noodles, and corn puddings to name a few.

Eggs alone or in combination with other foods found favor with the citizens of the 1700s. One such recipe known as "Scotch Eggs" was, and still is, a favorite. Hard-cooked eggs were shelled, encased in home-made sausage meat, and then fried. Today's version uses ground ham, made lighter with the addition of soft bread crumbs. The eggs are then baked. The 1976 version of "Scotch Eggs" may be served hot or cold as a FINE MAKE-A-HEAD PICNIC FOOD.

SCOTCH EGGS

- 6 hard-cooked eggs, shelled and chilled
- 1 pound ground smoked ham
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup Homogenized Milk
- Dash of pepper
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup finely crushed Sesame Rounds
- Dijon-style mustard

Preheat oven to 350°. In medium bowl, combine ham, bread crumbs, milk, and pepper. Divide into 6 equal portions; flatten each into a 5-inch circle. Place a hard-cooked egg in the center of each circle of ham; wrap ham around egg to encase completely. Roll in beaten egg, then in sesame crumbs; chill at least 30 minutes. (The crumb-rolled eggs may be held in the refrigerator up to 24 hours before baking.) Bake in lightly buttered 7 1/2 x 11-inch pan at 350° for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm or cold with Dijon-style mustard. Refrigerate any leftovers.

July 4—the good old days

As we celebrate the Bicentennial, do you wonder how the Centennial of the American Revolution was celebrated in Wayne in 1876?

By good fortune a clipping from the Wayne Pilot of July 6, 1876 was preserved. With great enthusiasm the editor wrote: "We print the Pilot this week in the national colors, as this is Centennial week." Enthusiasm was at such a high level that the paper — published every Wednesday — did not get into print until Thursday,

Wayne

July 6th. The Centennial was a "little demoralizing at the Pilot office, too", he wrote and "we don't mean this shall occur again very soon."

Jokingly he wrote in his column: "When old Mr. Washington inquired about his mutilated cherry tree, his son owned up by saying, 'I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little hatchet.'"

It is remarked as coincident that when it was asked who smashed McCollister & Kynock's glass front, Dr. Convis made a similar reply and said, "I did it with my little cannon." (Dr. John Converse, whose name was almost always misspelled and mispronounced.)

No one seems to know where or when Dr. Converse got the small cannon, which was a part of Wayne's Fourth of July for many years. There have been several stories told, one of which has appeared in print several times, and must have been made up by one of our local practical jokers — another tribe so familiar in the old days, whose exuberance is no longer acceptable and whose antics are missing on the Fourth.

The story was told that the cannon was stolen ("liberated" was the word) in Amherstburg by three Prouty & Glass Carriage Company employees who had been on a picnic. Since we know it was in Wayne in 1876, and the P & G came to Wayne in 1888, this cannot be true.

They were said to have found a friend with a boat to row them across the river with it, and that "Frank Francisco, who drove a grocery wagon, brought the cannon to Wayne for them." Presumably they picked up the cannon in a park and carried it to the river.

My "reliable source" (Bill Chambers, who as a small boy always saw what was going on downtown) tells me that Mr. Francisco did haul the two Civil War cannons from the freight office to the park in 1899.

From the Pilot: "The Centennial day opened with a salute by the Wayne Artillery at daybreak. By six o'clock, the people from the country began to come in but about this time a heavy rain set in, which continued until about noon. Several times the rain slackened; in the intervals the band gave some of their tallest tooting; the cannon put in a good chorus, but just as everyone began to hope for a good time, down came the rain again in torrents.

"About noon, the Fusileers appeared in most grotesque uniform, or rather dress, for there was no uniformity about it—mounted on spirited equines. They were preceded by their gorgeous chariot and unrivaled band, and formed the main feature of the day.

"In the afternoon, they

July 4 in the good old days

(Continued from Page 5) had a grand parade and procession led by the Cornet Band, after which the "Mystics" of Detroit and a picked up Wayne nine played a match game — or rather part of a game of baseball. Fireworks and a bowery dance in the evening closed the scene and Wayne's first Centennial was over.

Before night, a large crowd had assembled and everything indicated that with a good day, the celebration would have been a grand success. We hope that those of our readers who participate in the next Centennial may have a fairer day.

"No one was hurt by the fire crackers, fireworks or the cannon. By some unaccountable mishap... the fireworks caught fire on the stand soon after the exhibition began and one grand explosion followed. In consequence, the exhibition was not lengthy, but quite impressive.

"During the forenoon of the Fourth there was a little spirited cannonading on Michigan Avenue, but it was not long continued. The second discharge shattered the entire glass front of McCollister & Kynock's hardware store and fetched three panes of glass in McGuire's feed store. The artillery then withdrew to the public square."

Well, that's how it was in 1876. "The Fourth" was a big day for many years. In 1878, it began at 1 a.m. with "firing of anvils", a break in to ring the Methodist Church bell at 2 p.m., and a demonstration by a mock band until morning. People from the country then began arriving in town, gathering on the public square, where they formed a procession, led by the Cornet Band and all went to Clark's Grove.

Here there were orations — and I am sure someone recited the Declaration of Independence. The newspaper doesn't tell us who had the honor in 1878, but it was quite likely

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA!!

Bradshaw Hodgkinson. "Squire" Hodgkinson was said to have performed this assignment admirably.

Before and after the speakers there was music by the band and then dinner. And in the afternoon the ballgame. In 1878, the game was between the "Bruisers" and the "Merriman Club." The Merriman farm was at Michigan and Merriman Road and the Merriman brothers well known for playing baseball and racing horses.

The biggest events of the Fourth always were the ballgame in the afternoon and the fireworks in the evening. Then followed the dance at Walker's Tavern—later Berdan's—at Michigan and Hannan Rd. In 1878, the ball at Berdan's was attended by 125 couples.

While torrents of rain fell during the Centennial Fourth, the day usually found the dirt streets very dry and dusty. With the many horses, buggies and wagons in town it was necessary to lay the dust by sprinkling and the Council directed the Committee on Streets to attend to this each year.

The enthusiasm of 1876 dwindled and in 1880, "The Fourth passed off quietly in this place. No reading of the Declaration of Independence. No fireworks, no nothing."

In 1898, renewed patriotism, brought on, probably by the Spanish-American War, found the residents planning a celebration rather unlike the earlier style. Commercialism had arrived and requests were made to erect booths and tents on the public square to sell refreshments. The Council refused.

The following year, in an attempt to attract new business and industry and to show activity, the Council relented. A new 10 x 16 U.S. flag was ordered for the Village Hall. The streets were to be sprinkled, and any part of the streets could be rented for stands, with the money to go into the General Fund. A license cost (in 1901) $3 for a stand and $5 for "tent shows or swings." As usual five special police were appointed at $2 each.

By this time, the street cars provided means to go to other towns, especially Detroit, for a Fourth celebration that offered two attractions: more and bigger fireworks, as well as "cutting loose" out of sight of the home town. So local business men did what might be expected. The Fourth of July was a legal holiday, bars were closed and — well, let me quote a story in a Detroit paper of July, 1906:

"This year as the Fourth of July approached, the business men decided it would be better for the town if some of the extra spending money could be retained into circulation in Wayne.

Committees were formed, funds solicited, and an old fashioned celebration was pulled off right at home. The liquor dealers of the town were appealed to and informed that if they would put up a goodly sum, no one would object if they did a little business on the Fourth as all other business men were going to do. Everybody and his neighbor came to town and the day was voted a big success."

The next week a warrant was sworn out by a group of objectors, gossip grew about everyone involved, every hint of scandal or meanness raked up, the whole thing hashed over in Wayne County Circuit Court, "and all this row because Wayne pulled off a Fourth of July celebration in the good old way."

A 'publick square' called Wayne

George M. Johnson was the first settler of Wayne and Nankin township, arriving in 1824.

Many years later, Ezra Derby came to Nankin township and brought with him many improvements. He built several establishments including a saw mill, store and blacksmith shop. For a time, this tiny area was called Derby's Corners because of the many contributions of this man.

Derby, considered the first businessman, erected a section known as Derby Plat. Merchants began to locate their businesses along this area and it soon became the pride of the town.

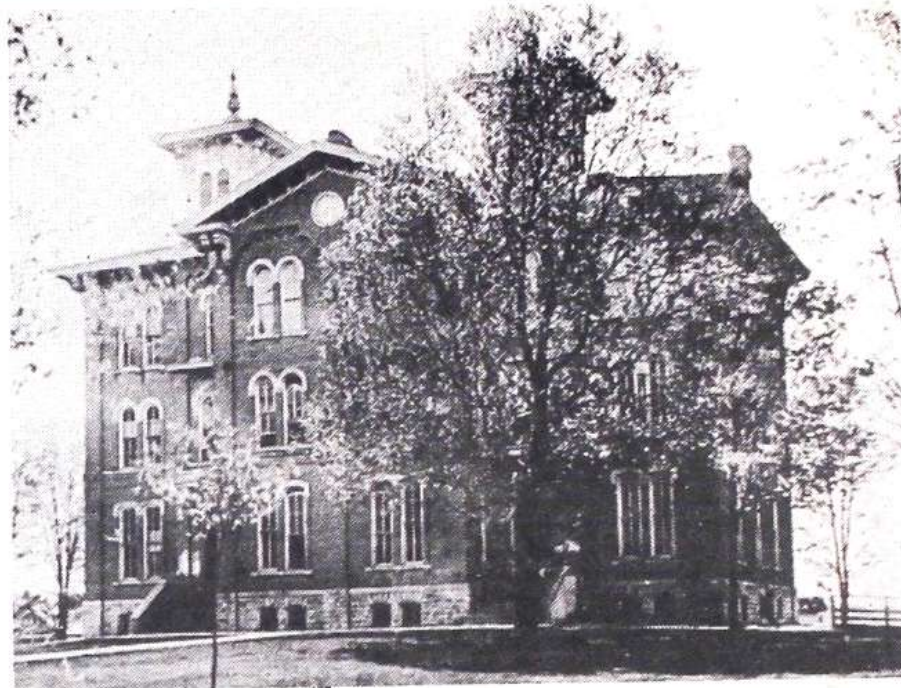

In 1836, Rufus Brown and Col. Joshua Howard purchased a section of land and laid out 169 lots with streets and a "publick square" calling it Wayne.

The origin of its name reveals several stories. It was believed that Wayne was named after General Anthony Wayne, who died in 1796, never seeing the village. It was probable that its location in the center of Wayne County was the reason for its name.

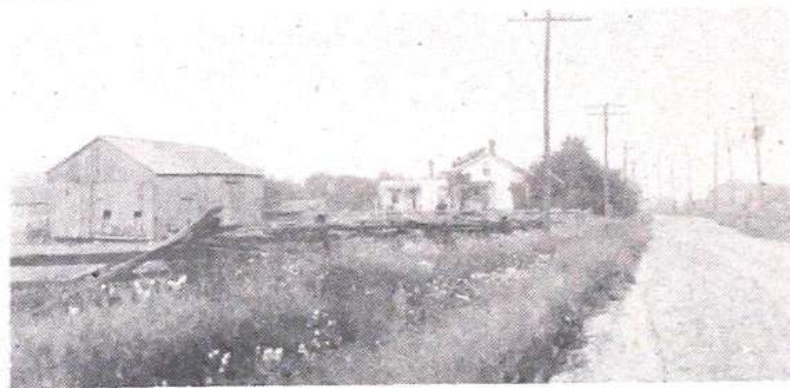

The village was soon incorporated into a village in April, 1869. With the advancement of industry and population, the birth of the city of Wayne occurred on July 5, 1960.

During the early 1860s, Wayne was developed into an agricultural community of small farms. Scenes like this one were common as everyone had a job to do around the farm.

In 1870-71, the township of Wayne built the Union School at a cost of $9,000. A three year high school course was a new addition in 1876.

The early settlers found it very difficult to travel the swampy roads and improvements came at a slow pace. But, in 1868, the village had Michigan Avenue graveled. Street lamps and wooden sidewalks came later and by 1896, cement sidewalks were installed.

Van Buren never stopped

Before the year 1835, Van Buren was originally a portion of Huron township. The earliest settlers came from the east by covered wagons and founded Van Buren township as an agricultural community.

Persons could purchase a minimum of 60 acres and in order to protect their claim, it was necessary for the settlers to sit upon their land and begin construction of their homestead.

The township was named after Martin Van Buren, the then vice-president of the United States, who rode through on a train, but never stopped.

The original township was very large and the major areas of population and activity were: Tyler Road, French Landing, Otisville, Snow's Landing (Rawsonville), Denton and Belleville.

The city of Belleville carries many tales behind its name. There are those who contest that Belleville was derived from the French interpretation, "Beautiful Village". While others believe that it was named after James Bell, one of the township's earliest citizens, who founded the first Post Office.

The plat of the town of Belleville was recorded on June 27, 1846 and in May, 1905, it was incorporated into a village. Under the administration of Orlo G. Roberts, president, the city of Belleville was born on May 14, 1946.

As an early village, Belleville was established as an agricultural community. This picture shows a deserted Main Street as all the citizens were at home working in the fields and tending to their livestock. Courtesy of Mrs. Ethel Cullin.

The Wabash Railroad began operating through Belleville in July 1881. This began the transportation of passengers and goods to distant markets and cities and returned a flow of eager settlers, ideas and goods. On this day, milk was being shipped out of the Belleville depot. Courtesy of Mrs. Henry Deering.

The Arlington House Hotel was a very popular stopping place for salesmen who traveled to the village of Belleville by train. The hotel was used as a central base as the men peddled their business wares to neighboring communities. Courtesy of Mrs. Ethel Cullin.

Westland-Indian haven

The city of Westland was established from a portion of Nankin township. Although the city is very young, Nankin was established over 130 years ago.

The forest area which was characteristic of early Westland, was covered by four very old Indian trails,

Westland

Michigan Ave., Wayne Rd., Cowan Rd., and Ann Arbor Trails.

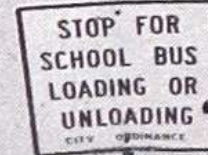

The tribe of Potawatomi Indians marked Nankin's early inhabitation. On Nov. 7, 1818, the first piece of land was sold to Dennison Palmer for $2 an acre.

On May 16, 1966, Westland was separated from Nankin and bestowed the title of city. It has come a long way from the early days to a bustling city with a population of approximately 103,000.

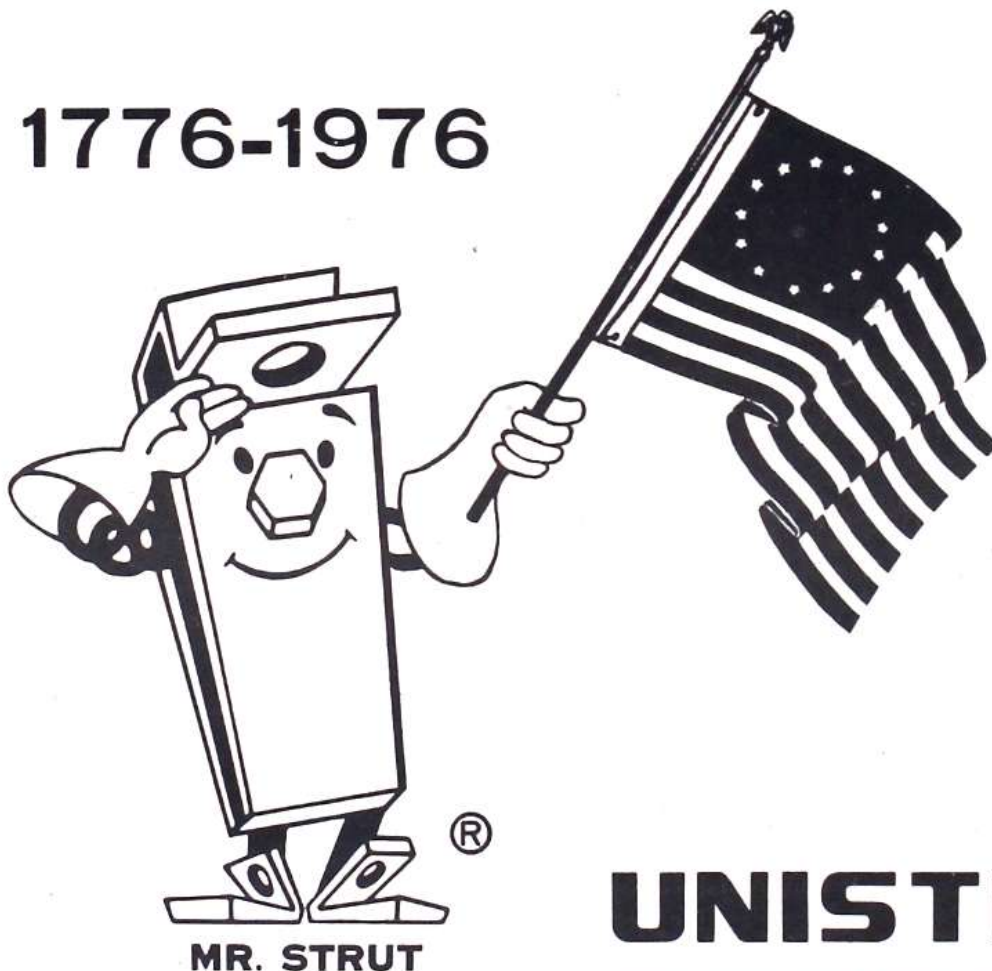

In 1849, Stephen Hayward built a church for the Wesleyan Methodists to hold services and meetings. During the 1920's, it was sold to the Newburgh Baptist (or Methodist), Church for $50 and was later removed. Courtesy of Wayne Historical Museum.

This is not a representative picture of Westland today, a bustling city with a population of approximately 103,000. But it does show what happens in Hines Park during a good hard rain.

Westland Romulus has rich history

During the 1840 s, the first log school house was built. In 1887, the Cady family built this one room, white frame building calling it the Cady School. Courtesy of Wayne Historical Museum.

The property for Patchen School was deeded by one of Westland's earliest settlers, Abel Patchen in 1854. Courtesy of Wayne Historical Museum.

The earliest settlers of Romulus were encumbered by a swampy, wooded territory, thick with wildlife and accessible only by narrow trails and the scenic Huron river.

Tradition has carried through the years the story of Romulus and Remus, brothers who founded Rome and were raised by wolves. Although this was impossible in Romulus, U.S.A., these animals constantly endangered the lives of the early settlers. There was a high bounty paid to anyone who could kill them. It has been believed that this is the origin of the name, Romulus.

The township of Romulus was created on May 17, 1835, from a part of Huron township. The first known resident was Samuel Polyne, a French-Canadian who immigrated in 1826.

Years later in 1833, Jenks Pullen and his six sons settled in Romulus. It was platted and recorded in 1836 and came to be known as Pullens Corners, which name it retained until the Civil War. This area was the center of town where a great deal of activity took place and is now, "Five Points".

Upon this land such establishments as the Union Church, Kingsley's

Romulus

General Store and the Pullen's Corners Post Office were erected and operated.

In 1834, Mt. Pleasant, a village which lay on a hill near the Huron River was the first community to be platted.

The first school was situated on the border of Van Buren and Romulus in Mt. Pleasant. Classes were conducted in Mrs. Moore's parlor during the middle 1800's.

For a number of years, this was a busy area with a sawmill, hotel and store. In the middle of the 1830's, a gang of counterfeiters thrived here. In 1839, the gang was arrested and the tiny village of Mt. Pleasant was abandoned.

The township of Romulus progressed from a village with a population of 125 persons to a city in May, 1970.

The sandy Main Rd. of the early 1900 s is quite a far cry from the cement paved streets of today. Courtesy of Mrs. Charles Lau.

A Bicentennial salute to Canton

Charles Zazula, who has been compiling Canton Township's history as a Bicentennial project, describes as follows many of the area's respected settlers, the names of whom have been assigned to roads and streets and other landmarks we know today.

Benjamin Franklin Penney is an appropriate Bicentennial name with a philosophy added: A penny earned is a penny saved. Benjamin was born on January 4th, 1820, in Small Valley, New Jersey, and died on April 22, 1907, in Canton, Michigan. He wed Mary Amia Ensec of Pennsylvania and settled on an 80-acre land at Joy and Sheldon Rd. Having a deed signed by President Andrew Jackson, he built a log cabin which was later expanded into a larger house for eight children. Among descendants born in the homestead were: Mary Ann, born Feb. 14, 1852; Sarah Jane born on July 8, 1856; and Oliver Franklin who was born April 13, 1859, and Fanny C. who came on earth on Jan. 4, 1864.

This historic building, with its stone foundation and hand hewed log beams, still stands at 44675 Joy Rd. It has been a Penney landmark ever since Ben first built a log cabin and then established a blacksmith shop in 1844. Grandson Glen now dwells here with his wife Margaret — formerly Miss Kopernick. Glen's sister Edna (Penney) Lowe is 92 years young and enjoying sunshine in California.

Ferdinand Kopernick — after whom Kopernick road was named — emigrated from Germany. He procured 84 acres of woodland at Canton's northeast section from Henry Schrader. Ferdinand and wife, Anna, endured a pioneer struggle in the log cabin wilderness. They had one child, Margaret, who walked to school down a long rugged private path. It was not until after the first world war that the county finally graded the road and called it "Kopernick". Ferdinand was born on Dec. 2, 1848 and lived to mellow age of 91, succumbing on Feb. 10, 1939.

The grandmother of Flora Truman — wife to President Harry Truman — was a sister to Ferdinand and a second cousin to Margaret (Kopernick) Penney, who is second cousin to Harry and Flora Gerst.

James Mathew Swegles, whose history started from the west side and ended in the east side of Canton, was more known as Matt. First settling on Ridge Rd. of the historic Cherry Hill settlement, Matt and his wife, Vivian, moved in 1916 to the Lilley and Ford road section. The Swegles raised nine children, two of whom were twins — Max and Rex.

Matt operated a milk weigh-station on the 80-acre land. Dairy farmers would bring wagons loaded with 10 gallon cans of milk to be weighed and cooled before being delivered to the creamery. The Swegles would travel to Plymouth to buy ice which was crushed and used as the coolant in the process. Matt and Vivian lived 72 years each with Matt dying in 1954 and Vivian in 1955.

Max recalls vividly when the barn was moved from the west to the east side of Lilley Rd. He was eight years old then and he stepped on a spike sticking upright on a 2x4 wood.

John Mott was of Pennsylvania Dutch ancestry. He and his wife, Charlotte, settled on a 40 acre parcel at northwest corner of Cherry Hill and Lilley Rd. The children were divided with five boys and five girls. He served in the Civil War, was wounded and buried at the old Downer Cemetery on Michigan Avenue just east of Haggerty. At that time Michigan was known as Chicago Rd. and Haggerty as Artley Rd.

John II wedded Maria Smith and had eight girls plus four boys. He was born in 1858 and died in 1940 with three of his girls dying before himself. John II and his family were interred at the Sheldon Cemetery.

Another Mott name was A.R. Mott who owned 150 acres on both sides of Proctor east of Beck Rd., and a C. Mott who claimed

40 acres at corner of Cherry Hill and Beck Rd. Mott Road is a short stretch of land at the southwest corner of Canton Township named after one of the pioneers.

George W. Smith — who raised a legacy of five teachers — was born on July 1, 1853 and hailed from Detroit. He came to Canton to marry Mary A. Tuller. In 1887 they procured from David Tuller 40 acres and property at southeast corner of Lilley and Palmer Rds. This was the birthplace of Mary and five of her six children, excepting Zelma who was born in Van Buren Township. Later he added another 40 acres and a 10 acre parcel to his estate.

George was an ingenious enterpriser with a goal for excellency. To supplement farming, he raised tobacco, manufactured cigars and sold the items during winter seasons. The result was that all five girls went to Normal College and became teachers. They purchased student books of 9c fares for transportation to Ypsilanti and back home on the trolley line. His only son Andrew became a renowned General Contractor.

Believe it or not, all five children born on the century old homestead are still living: Jose Robbe, born June 4, 1890, Emogene Breese — November 5, 1891, Andrew — March 11, 1893, Evelyn Fischer — January 23, 1895 and Helen J. Hooper — October 17, 1902.

George and Mary have ten grand children and 36 great grandchildren. Andrew Jr. is presently still a farmer at heart. He sells Ford tractors appropriately named the "Canton Tractor Sales, Inc." on Michigan Avenue.

Samuel Barber — prominent lawyer from Wayne, Michigan — wedded Grace Anderson of the local pioneer family. They settled on the 78 acre land that bisected Lotz road as it bended eastward at Cherry Hill Rd. Samuel had five children of whom Elizabeth lived to be over 100 years of age and Kate 80 years. His son Jason is the father of Mabel who married Irving Tillotson.

Gottlieb Gerst — a man of peace and the free enterprise spirit — journeyed from Germany in 1886 to settle in Van Buren Township before living with his son John in Canton.

After marriage to Edith Schrader, son, John, purchased in 1898 from J.H. Rowley 42 acres in southwest quarter of Section 12. Later he acquired another 42 acres from Miss Thirsty Cummings in S.W. ¼ of Sec. 1; then a 17 acre parcel from John Fogarty in N. ¼ of Sec. 12 which was formerly the George Miller farm.

Being civic minded, John served as treasurer of School District No. 1, Justice of the Peace and three times on Jury duty. John was born on December 6, 1890, and died on Sept. 5, 1944, leaving son, Harry, and daughter, Flora, as posterity. Both attended all eight grades at the old Hough school which land was leased by Ira Hough in contract of May 9, 1844, to the township.

Harry, who was born on the Whitbeck homestead, illustrated craftsmanship in helping to rebuild the house into a sturdy edifice of home-made fancy cement blocks, in 1922. The barn was rebuilt in 1913, the same year that George Proctor constructed the model log cabin for the Houghs. His sister Flora still resides at the landmark homestead at 7278 Haggerty which land was recently bisected by the I-275 highway. Haggerty Rd. was originally Whitbeck N.

of Warren and Artley S. of Warren.

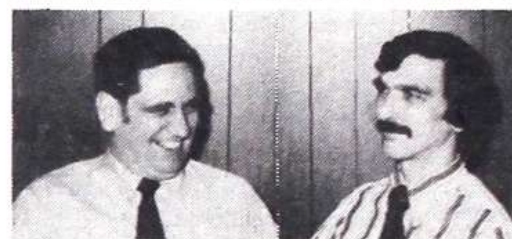

Flora Gerst Thorman has treasured the records of the historic Hough school which was officially known as originally District No. 8 and later District I. She possesses a student and teacher photo of the Hough school in about 1890 and another of 1922. Then there is the October, 1838 census of District No. 8 of Canton. It included pupils 5 years to 17 of age inclusively. These were four Peter Britton children, three Peter Knapp, two Smith, three Warner, seven William Kellogg, two Oliver Booth, one Dunham, one Cummings, four Ira Hough, three Nathaniel Gregory, three James Foster, one James Safford Jr., three Susanna Andrews, one, Lindsey and three for Curtis. By 1849 only nine new names were added, namely: Young, Rowley, Earle, Nunn, Perry, Jeffrey, Dean, Thompson, Fitzgerald, plus an unreadable name.

The Annual Report of Oct. 3, 1846, with Ira M. Hough as Director, shows 44 students with Sarah Fairman and Elizabeth Fitzgerald as teachers. Wages paid to Fairman was $9.45 per month and $7.72 to Fitzgerald. Amount of school money received from township was $25.30

Canton Township earns Bicentennial salute

teachers were Kate Bell, Edith Brown and Sarah Beeman. There were more new student names now than the pioneers. Cyrus Parish was charged in 1865 a mere 41 cents for 29½ days of school and Alva Hill paid $2.25 for 162 ½ days.

Text of District No. 1 school board meeting of September 1, 1976 was as follows: "Meeting called to order by Mr. Albert Safford, moderator. Director's report was read and accepted. Mr. George Palmer was elected Director for the ensuing three years. Motion carried that we raise sixty dollars for teachers wages. Also that we raise twenty four dollars for wood and eleven for incidental expenses. Moved and carried that we have 9 months school, 2 in fall, 4 winter, 3 summer. After which meeting adjourned."

Among names that served as Directors, Moderators or Assessors of District No. 1 during terms from 1860 to 1893 were: James, Albert and Henry Safford, Ezekiel and Henry Anderson, Ira and James Hough, S.T. Bount, Samuel Barber, Leander Truesdell, J.C. Knapp, William Hubbell, John Egloff, Harvey Marsh, George Palmer, Charles Trumbull, E. Crawford, A. Miller, Jerome Stoll, A.

Kinyan, Phillip Dingeldey, William Wherry. At a special school meeting of Dec. 26, 1883, a resolution was read and accepted that District No. 1 school (Hough) be expanded to include larger acreage.

When John Gerst took the 1922 Census of District No. 1, he found such diversion of names as: Rowe, Gust, Kaiser, Spisz, Truskowski, Swegles, Tillotson, Reddeman and of course Przybylowski.

These are students of Hough School, Class of 1893, in Canton Township. Ziada Bolton (far right, second row) is the only pupil still living. She wed Clinton Gottschalk and now lives on North Territorial Road. Mrs. Bolton will celebrate her 90th birthday on Sept. 15. How many of the other students do you recognize? ACTION WARRANTY Guarantees Our Services

Ask for your free copy of our "Action Warranty." It guarantees in writing the services we perform for our customers. That's a bold step. We think our customers deserve it. So we put it in writing... and sign our name to it. We think you'll enjoy dealing with people proud enough to offer such a warranty.
